Battery Weekly 29 June

America

- Samsung Joins With US Battery Startup Seeking Pentagon Cash.- BNEF. Samsung SDI will invest USD 20 million in U.S. battery startup Forge Nano and provide engineering support to help scale battery cell production at a new factory in North Carolina. The partnership includes a long-term agreement for Samsung to purchase 250 MWh of battery cells annually starting in 2028, while helping the company secure a more localized, China-free supply chain for U.S. defense and aerospace applications. Forge Nano is also seeking up to USD 275 million in Pentagon financing, highlighting growing U.S. efforts to build a domestic battery manufacturing ecosystem and reduce dependence on foreign battery materials and components.

- Lyten to pay €60 million for Northvolt site in Heide.- electrive.com U.S. battery company Lyten has agreed to acquire Northvolt's unfinished battery factory site in Heide, Germany, for approximately €60 million, paving the way for a new battery manufacturing project after Northvolt's bankruptcy halted development. Unlike Northvolt's original plan, Lyten intends to build a smaller battery cell factory, alongside a large-scale energy storage system and data center, creating around 1,000 jobs. The acquisition helps preserve strategic battery manufacturing capacity in Germany while reducing potential losses from public funding previously allocated to the Northvolt project.

- QuantumScape signs Honda as solid-state battery partner.- electrive.com QuantumScape and Honda R&D have entered a multi-year research partnership to accelerate the development of solid-state battery technology and manufacturing processes. Following a successful evaluation of QuantumScape's solid-state platform, Honda will collaborate on advancing the company's QSE-5 lithium-metal battery, which promises higher energy density, faster charging, and improved safety compared with conventional lithium-ion batteries. The agreement further validates QuantumScape's technology and expands its network of automotive partners as the company moves toward commercialization of solid-state batteries.

- Ford to produce first LFP cells this year – thanks to CATL.- electrive.com Ford is on track to begin production of LFP (lithium iron phosphate) battery cells at its BlueOval Battery Park Michigan facility, with mass-production-ready cells currently undergoing final validation. Using CATL-licensed technology, the plant will supply batteries for Ford's upcoming affordable EV platform, including a next-generation electric pickup planned for 2027. The move marks Ford's strategic shift toward lower-cost battery chemistries, with LFP expected to complement future LMR (lithium manganese-rich) batteries as the company seeks to reduce EV costs and strengthen its domestic battery manufacturing footprint.

- This Ex-Rental Tesla's Battery Was Heavily Degraded. Then The Decline Slowed.- insideevs.com A high-mileage 2022 Tesla Model 3 Long Range that lost about 20% of its battery capacity during its first two years as a rental vehicle showed a much slower degradation rate afterward. Battery health declined from 80% to 76% in the first year under private ownership, but fell only 1 percentage point to 75% over the following 14 months despite continued use. The case suggests that EV battery degradation is often non-linear, with the most significant capacity loss occurring early in a battery's life before stabilizing into a slower aging curve, highlighting the long-term durability of EV batteries even after heavy early use.

- CSIQ Secures 381MWh Energy Storage Project in Michigan.-solarbe.com CSIQ's e-STORAGE division has been selected by Apex Clean Energy to supply a 75MW/381MWh battery energy storage system (BESS) for the Coldwater Solar Project in Michigan, USA. The project will utilize e-STORAGE's SolBank 3.0 LFP battery system, along with integrated PCS and EMS solutions, with deliveries expected to begin in early 2027 and commercial operation targeted for mid-2027. The project supports Michigan's energy transition goals, including the deployment of additional energy storage capacity and the retirement of coal-fired generation, while enhancing grid flexibility and renewable energy

Asia

- CATL Speeds up Global Expansion of Battery Swapping Business With Hong Kong Launch.- yicaiglobal CATL is accelerating the global rollout of its battery-swapping business, expanding its Choco-Swap passenger EV network into Hong Kong while also advancing plans for a heavy-duty truck battery-swapping network in Europe. The company has already opened its first two swapping stations in Hong Kong and delivered the region's first battery-swappable taxis, with plans to build around 36 stations by 2030. The move follows CATL's recent partnership with Octopus Energy to deploy more than 30 truck battery-swapping stations across Europe by 2035, underscoring the company's strategy to scale battery swapping as a key solution for urban mobility and commercial transportation worldwide.

- Hina and FAW conclude long-term test of sodium-ion electric truck battery.- electrive.com Hina Battery and FAW Jiefang have successfully completed a seven-month, 15,000-km field test of a 339 kWh sodium-ion battery in an electric heavy-duty truck, demonstrating strong performance in extreme cold-weather conditions. The battery retained more than 90% of its usable capacity at -40°C, while supporting 20–25 minute fast charging and a lifespan of over 8,000 fast-charge cycles. The results highlight the potential of sodium-ion technology for commercial vehicles operating in cold regions, offering advantages in safety, durability, and resource availability, although lower energy density remains a key challenge compared with conventional lithium-ion batteries.

- Volvo's EX30 battery woes spread to China with new recall.- cnevpost.com Volvo Cars is recalling 2,501 China-built EX30 electric SUVs due to a potential battery defect that could lead to internal short circuits, overheating, smoke generation, and, in rare cases, thermal runaway. The affected vehicles were manufactured between April and December 2024, and owners are advised to limit charging to 70% until repairs are completed. The recall follows a broader global EX30 battery safety campaign and highlights ongoing quality concerns surrounding battery cells reportedly supplied by Sunwoda, underscoring the importance of battery safety and quality control in the EV industry.

- CATL teams with Galbot to scale humanoid robots in battery factories.- cnevpost.com CATL has partnered with Chinese robotics company Galbot to accelerate the deployment of humanoid robots in battery manufacturing, marking a new step in factory automation. The collaboration centers on the Galbot S1, a heavy-load humanoid robot powered by CATL batteries and capable of handling up to 50 kg with dual robotic arms. Already operating on CATL's production lines, the robot performs tasks such as material handling and component picking in battery module and pack manufacturing. Beyond production, the two companies also plan to develop maintenance and service standards for industrial humanoid robots, highlighting the growing convergence of advanced batteries, AI, and intelligent manufacturing.

- CATL Launches World's First Utility-Scale Sodium-Ion Energy Storage System.-solarbe.com CATL has unveiled Tener Sodium, the world's first utility-scale sodium-ion energy storage solution, marking a major milestone in the commercialization of sodium-ion batteries for large-scale ESS applications. The modular system supports more than 30 MWh per installation, offers flexible storage durations from 1 to 8 hours, and delivers up to 15,000 cycles with strong performance across extreme temperatures. CATL highlighted key innovations including a dedicated sodium-ion BMS, a Bi-DC power control system that improves round-trip efficiency, and a millisecond-level self-healing architecture that enhances grid reliability and safety. With commercial readiness confirmed across both the technology and supply chain, CATL plans to begin deliveries in China in September 2026, followed by global deployment in 2027, signaling the start of GWh-scale sodium-ion energy storage adoption.

- Natrium Technology Breaks Ground on 10GWh Sodium-Ion Battery Project in Ningxia.-solarbe.com Natrium Technology has commenced construction of a 10GWh sodium-ion battery project in Yanchi County, Ningxia, with a total investment of CNY 3.03 billion. The project will be developed in two phases, covering the full sodium-ion battery value chain, including cathode and anode materials, battery cell manufacturing, PACK assembly, and energy storage applications. Once completed, the facility is expected to support growing demand for energy storage systems and electric vehicles, further strengthening China's push toward large-scale commercialization of sodium-ion battery technology.

- Guyi New Energy Launches 2.2GWh Solid-State Battery Project in Inner Mongolia.-solarbe.com Guyi New Energy (Inner Mongolia) has received approval to develop a 2.2GWh solid-state battery manufacturing project in Hohhot, Inner Mongolia, with a total investment of CNY 800 million. The project includes a 2.2GWh production line, an R&D pilot line, and supporting facilities such as manufacturing, research, office, and warehouse buildings. Scheduled for completion between June 2026 and June 2027, the project reflects continued investment in high-safety solid-state battery technology as China accelerates development of next-generation battery manufacturing capabilities.

- Hyundai steps up localization as ASEAN emerges as EV growth market.- pulse.mk Hyundai Motor Group is accelerating its expansion in Southeast Asia (ASEAN) by strengthening local EV production and battery manufacturing capabilities as the region emerges as a key growth market for electric vehicles. Through its joint venture with LG Energy Solution, Hyundai operates the HLI Green Power battery plant in Indonesia, supplying batteries for locally produced EVs such as the Kona Electric. The company is also expanding manufacturing capacity in Vietnam, positioning itself to capture rising EV demand across ASEAN as growth in more mature markets such as China and the U.S. begins to slow.

- PNT Completes Cathode Material and Battery Cell Plant in Gumi.- thelec.net South Korea's PNT has completed construction of its fourth manufacturing facility in Gumi, following an investment of KRW 150 billion. The new plant will produce cathode active materials and battery cells, marking PNT's expansion beyond its traditional battery equipment business into battery materials and cell manufacturing. The facility spans 66,050 square meters and is expected to create around 200 jobs, supporting the company's strategy to evolve from a battery equipment specialist into a provider of comprehensive battery solutions.

- Lotte Energy Materials Secures National Certification for Solid-State Battery Material Technology.- thelec.net Lotte Energy Materials has received South Korea's New Excellent Technology (NET) certification for its sulfide-based solid electrolyte particle-sizing technology, a key process for all-solid-state battery materials. The technology enables the production of sub-micron solid electrolyte particles while preserving ionic conductivity and minimizing material degradation during manufacturing. The certification validates Lotte's capabilities in next-generation battery materials and strengthens its position in the development of solid-state battery technologies, which are widely viewed as a critical future battery platform.

- SK On Completes Stake Swap With EVE Energy, Takes Full Control of Yancheng Plant.- thelec.net SK On has completed a stake swap with Chinese battery maker EVE Energy, gaining 100% ownership of its battery manufacturing facility in Yancheng, China, three months ahead of schedule. As part of the transaction, SK On transferred its stake in a Huizhou joint venture to EVE Energy and acquired EVE's remaining stake in the Yancheng operation, while receiving CNY 200 million to balance the equity exchange. The move is part of SK On's broader strategy to streamline its global manufacturing footprint, improve operational efficiency, and strengthen its financial position as it prepares the Yancheng plant for upgraded battery production beginning in 2027.

Europe

- BYD Rejects Claims It Violated Hungary's Environmental Rules.- BNEF BYD has rejected allegations that it violated environmental regulations during construction of its EV manufacturing plant in Szeged, Hungary, stating that the claims are unfounded and are being addressed through legal channels. Despite an ongoing investigation related to the handling of soil at the construction site, BYD said it remains focused on ramping up production at its first European vehicle plant and is continuing to evaluate locations for a second European manufacturing facility. The case highlights increasing regulatory scrutiny of the EV and battery industry in Europe as automakers expand local production.

- CATL, Octopus Plan 30-Plus Truck Battery-Swapping Stations Across Europe by 2035.- yicaiglobal.com CATL and Octopus Energy have formed a joint venture, Swaptopus, to deploy more than 30 battery-swapping stations for electric heavy-duty trucks across Europe by 2035. The first demonstration stations are expected to launch in the UK in 2027, leveraging CATL's proven truck battery-swapping technology and Octopus's energy and software expertise. The network could support over 300,000 electric trucks, accelerate freight electrification, reduce dependence on imported fossil fuels, and attract more than €30 billion in private investment, marking CATL's first overseas expansion of its Qiji Energy truck battery-swapping business.

- Rock Tech struggles with financing for lithium converter in Guben- electrive.com Rock Tech Lithium is facing financing hurdles for its planned lithium hydroxide converter in Guben, Germany, one of the largest proposed battery materials projects in Europe. The company is seeking funding for the €750 million facility, which is designed to produce 24,000 tonnes of battery-grade lithium hydroxide annually, enough for roughly 500,000 EVs per year. While permits are already in place, the lack of private investment has delayed a final investment decision, pushing expected production startup from the original 2027 target to 2029 or later. The project highlights the financing challenges facing Europe's battery supply chain despite strong long-term demand for locally sourced battery materials.

- CATL sources battery components from China instead of Debrecen.- electrive.com CATL's battery factory in Debrecen, Hungary, has fallen behind schedule, with battery cell production yet to begin despite earlier plans to start mass production in 2026. While CATL has commenced battery module production at the site, key customers such as Mercedes-Benz are currently sourcing batteries for new EV models from China, with CATL reportedly covering the additional logistics costs. The delays are linked to pending regulatory approvals and stricter environmental oversight, although CATL continues expanding local operations and ultimately plans to scale the facility to 100 GWh of annual capacity, making it one of Europe's largest battery manufacturing hubs.

- Hyundai Establishes Battery Assembly for the Ioniq 3 in Turkey.- electrive.com Hyundai is investing €715 million to expand production of its upcoming Ioniq 3 EV in İzmit, Turkey, including a new battery pack assembly facility developed with Hyundai Mobis. The battery plant, backed by a €55 million investment, will use automated production lines and create more than 300 jobs, supporting Hyundai's broader localization strategy in Europe. Scheduled to begin production in August, the Ioniq 3 will become Hyundai's first battery-electric passenger vehicle manufactured in Turkey, strengthening regional EV supply chains and reducing reliance on imported battery systems.

- LG Energy Solution to Showcase AI Data Center Power Solutions at ees Europe 2026.- thelec.net LG Energy Solution (LGES) will showcase a range of AI data center and energy storage solutions at ees Europe 2026 in Germany, highlighting its strategy to expand beyond EV batteries into power infrastructure. Key products include the JF2S DC LINK 5.0 utility-scale ESS, powered by LFP cells produced in Poland, as well as next-generation UPS and battery backup unit (BBU) systems designed for AI servers and data centers. LGES will also demonstrate its battery passport platform and regulatory compliance capabilities, reinforcing its focus on localized European supply chains and the growing intersection of AI, energy storage, and grid infrastructure.

- Sunwoda Completes EU Battery Passport System Integration Test.-solarbe.com Sunwoda has successfully completed system integration testing with the EU Battery Passport Digital Product Passport (DPP) registry, becoming one of the first Chinese battery companies to achieve end-to-end validation of the platform. The milestone prepares the company for the EU's Battery Regulation, which will require EV, light mobility, and industrial batteries above 2 kWh sold in Europe to carry a digital battery passport starting in February 2027. By establishing full lifecycle data traceability—from raw materials and manufacturing to recycling—Sunwoda strengthens its regulatory readiness and competitiveness in the European battery market while positioning itself ahead of upcoming compliance requirements.

- Sungrow Secures 260MWh Energy Storage Project in Italy.-solarbe.com. Sungrow has signed a strategic agreement with ENGIE Italia to supply a 65MVA/260MWh battery energy storage system (BESS) in Pisa, Italy. The project, scheduled for delivery in Q1 2027 and commercial operation in Q3 2027, will utilize Sungrow's PowerTitan 2.0 storage platform, medium-voltage converters, EMS, and a 20-year long-term service agreement. The project supports Italy's rapidly growing energy storage market and renewable energy integration efforts, while expanding ENGIE's Italian BESS portfolio to 300MW/1,108MWh and further strengthening Sungrow's position in the European utility-scale storage market.

RATINGS DEFINITIONS, BENCHMARKS AND DISTRIBUTION

EQUITY RATINGS DEFINITIONS

Bernstein brand

The Bernstein brand rates stocks based on forecasts of relative performance for the next 12 months versus the S&P 500 for stocks listed on the U.S. and Canadian exchanges, versus the Bloomberg Europe Developed Markets Large and Mid Cap Price Return Index EUR (EDME) for stocks listed on the European exchanges and emerging markets exchanges outside of the Asia Pacific region, versus the Bloomberg Japan Large and Mid Cap Price Return Index USD (JPL) for stocks listed on the Japanese exchanges, and versus the Bloomberg Asia ex-Japan Large and Mid Cap Price Return Index (ASIAX) for stocks listed on the Asian (ex-Japan) exchanges -unless otherwise specified.

The Bernstein brand has three categories of ratings:

- Outperform: Stock will outpace the market index by more than 15 pp
- Market-Perform: Stock will perform in line with the market index to within +/-15 pp
- Underperform: Stock will trail the performance of the market index by more than 15 pp

Coverage Suspended: Coverage of a company under the Bernstein research brand has been suspended. Ratings and price targets are suspended temporarily, are no longer current, and should therefore not be relied upon.

Not Rated: A rating assigned when the stock cannot be accurately valued, or the performance of the company accurately predicted, at the present time. The covering analyst may continue to publish research reports on the company to update investors on events and developments.

Not Covered (NC) denotes companies that are not under coverage.

Bernstein brand stock ratings are based on a 12-month time horizon.

Autonomous brand – common stocks

The Autonomous brand rates common stocks as indicated below. As our benchmarks we use the Bloomberg Europe 500 Banks And Financial Services Index (BEBANKS) and Bloomberg Europe Dev Mkt Financials Large and Mid Cap Price Ret Index EUR (EDMFI) index for developed European banks and Payments, the Bloomberg Europe 500 Insurance Index (BEINSUR) for European insurers, the S&P 500 and S&P Financials for US banks and Payments coverage, S5LIFE for US Insurance, the S&P Insurance Select Industry (SPSIINS) for US Non-Life Insurers coverage, and the Bloomberg Emerging Markets Financials Large, Mid and Small Cap Price Return Index (EMLSF) for emerging market banks and insurers and Payments. Ratings are stated relative to the sector (not the market).

The Autonomous brand has three categories of common stock ratings:

- Outperform (OP): Stock will outpace the relevant index by more than 10 pp
- Neutral (N): Stock will perform in line with the market index to within +/-10 pp
- Underperform (UP): Stock will trail the performance of the relevant index by more than 10 pp

Coverage Suspended: Coverage of a company under the Autonomous research brand has been suspended. Ratings and price targets are suspended temporarily, are no longer current, and should therefore not be relied upon.

Not Rated: A rating assigned when the stock cannot be accurately valued, or the performance of the company accurately predicted, at the present time. The covering analyst may continue to publish research reports on the company to update investors on events and developments.

Those denoted as ‘Feature’ (e.g., Feature Outperform FOP, Feature Under Outperform FUP) are our core ideas.

Not Covered (NC) denotes companies that are not under coverage.

Autonomous brand common stock ratings are based on a 12-month time horizon.

Autonomous brand – preferred stocks

The Autonomous brand has three categories of preferred stock ratings:

- Outperform (OP): The total return of the preferred instrument is expected to outperform preferred securities of other issuers operating in similar sectors or rating categories over the next six months.
- Neutral (N): The total return of the preferred instrument is expected to perform in line with preferred securities of other issuers operating in similar sectors or rating categories over the next six months.
- Underperform (UP): The total return of the preferred instrument is expected to underperform preferred securities of other issuers operating in similar sectors or rating categories over the next six months.

Autonomous preferred stock ratings are based on a 6-month time horizon.

AUTONOMOUS CREDIT RESEARCH

Where this report contains investment recommendations for credit instruments, as defined in article 3(1)(35) of the Market Abuse Regulation, the information below is presented to comply with its disclosure requirements.

The report may also include reference(s) to published opinions by other Autonomous or Bernstein analysts covering the equity securities of the issuer(s) referenced herein. Please note an investment recommendation for credit instruments published by the author(s) of this report may differ from the published view of the analyst covering equity securities for the issuer(s) contained in this report and vice versa.

CREDIT RATINGS DEFINITIONS

The Autonomous brand has three categories of credit ratings:

- Credit Outperform (C-OP): The total return of the Reference Credit Instrument is expected to outperform the credit spread of bonds of other issuers operating in similar sectors or rating categories over the next six months.

- Credit Neutral (C-N): The total return of the Reference Credit Instrument is expected to perform in line with the credit spread of bonds of other issuers operating in similar sectors or rating categories over the next six months.

- Credit Underperform (C-UP): The total return of the Reference Credit Instrument is expected to underperform the credit spread of bonds of other issuers operating in similar sectors or rating categories over the next six months.

Autonomous credit ratings are based on a 6-month time horizon.

A list of all investment recommendations produced by the author(s) of this report alongside credit ratings history are available upon request.

The report has not been reviewed by any of the aforementioned regulators and does not represent any official recommendation from the aforementioned regulators. The investments referred to herein may not be suitable for you. Investors must make their own investment decisions in consultation with advice sought from a financial adviser regarding the suitability of the investment product, taking into account the specific investment objectives, financial situation or particular needs of any recipient of the recommendation, before the recipient makes a commitment to purchase the investment product.

The analysis contained herein is based on numerous assumptions. Different assumptions could result in materially different results. The information in this report does not constitute, or form part of, any offer to sell or issue, or any offer to purchase or subscribe for shares, or to induce engagement in any other investment activity. The value of any securities or financial instruments mentioned in this report may fluctuate subject to market conditions. Information about past performance of an investment is not necessarily a guide to, indicative of, or assurance of future performance. Estimates of future performance mentioned by the research analyst in this report are based on assumptions that may not be realized due to unforeseen factors like market volatility/fluctuation. In relation to securities or financial instruments denominated in a foreign currency other than the clients' home currency, movements in exchange rates will have an effect on the value, either favorable or unfavorable. Before acting on any recommendations in this report, recipients should consider the appropriateness of investing in the subject securities or financial instruments mentioned in this report and, if necessary, seek independent professional advice.

The securities described herein may not be eligible for sale in all jurisdictions or to certain categories of investors where that permission profile is not consistent with the licenses held by the entities noted herein. This document is for distribution only as may be permitted by law. It is not directed to, or intended for distribution to or use by, any person or entity who is a citizen or resident of or located in any locality, state, country or other jurisdiction where such distribution, publication, availability or use would be contrary to law or regulation or would subject the entities noted herein to any regulation or licensing requirement within such jurisdiction.
