We are positive on Largan and expect sequential revenue growth ahead following the slow season in 2Q26, driven by the ramp up of new models at its major smartphone brand customers and launches of China smartphone flagship models. We expect premium smartphone brands to expand market share under high memory costs, and Largan's focus on high-end lens would continue to support peer outperformance with GM expansion. On CPO, despite its small contribution in the near term, we view it as a new market that could allow Largan to benefit from strong end demand and fast specification migration, supporting long term growth and valuation re-rating. Maintain Buy.

Key takeaways from 2Q26 earnings call

1. CPO opportunities: Management highlights its focus on FA and glass-molding PMLA for FAU in CPO switches. On FA, Largan aims to start sampling in coming 2-3 weeks, with customers usually taking 2-4 weeks for qualification. Largan will enter mass production once qualification is passed. The company aims to complete the pilot line for FA in late 3Q26. Overall, management commented the mass production timeline could be at mid 2027 the earliest. Management highlights it currently has one project aiming for mass production (one-row FA), while other projects (e.g. two-row FA, multi-row FA) are still at an POC (proof of concept) stage. High-precision alignment is the company's key advantage, which Largan has developed active alignment and testing equipment in house, and aims to deliver high-precision FA even when the purchased V-grooves or fibers are not of perfect quality.

2. GlassBridge impact: Management highlights that GlassBridge is designed for edge coupling CPO switches while the current mainstream is grating coupling. Also, GlassBridge is still at an early stage for commercialization (i.e. takes time for mass production, ecosystem development, and customer qualification). Largan's FA is mainly used for grating coupling, and does not directly compete with GlassBridge. The precision level of FA for edge computing is also lower compared to grating coupling.

3. Near-term outlook: Largan 2Q26 revenues were up 17% YoY, mainly driven by 10-19MPx handset lens. Management expects revenues to sequentially increase in both July and August, driven by new models from its major smartphone brand customer. Variable aperture lens are more difficult to produce compared to periscope lens given the more complicated design and higher requirements on particle control. GM in 2Q26 was 49.4% mainly on major customers' model transitions, while variable aperture lens were in initial ramp up with room to enhance yield rate. 3Q26 GM could improve if new lens yield rates continue to improve. Management highlights handset lens would continue to benefit from specification upgrade in 2027E, such as more pieces of lenses for periscope lens, periscope lens with inner zooming, higher resolution in variable aperture lens, etc.

Earnings revisions: We raise 2027-28E net income by 2% / 1% mainly on higher revenues, reflecting our positive view on Largan's handset lens product mix upgrade on the back of premium smartphone models gaining more market share and Largan's leading market position in high-end lens, along with continuous specification upgrade. We factor in 2Q26 results (in line) and keep our 2026 estimates largely unchanged.

We expect sequential revenue growth in coming three months, driven by the ramp up of new models from its major smartphone brand customers. The growing foldable phones would also bring specification upgrade (e.g. slim camera, under display camera), along with more flagship model launches in 2H26 with specification upgrade to support Largan's revenues and GM increase.

GS Factor Profile

The Goldman Sachs Factor Profile provides investment context for a stock by comparing key attributes to the market (i.e. our universe of rated stocks) and its sector peers. The four key attributes depicted are: Growth, Financial Returns, Multiple (e.g. valuation) and Integrated (a composite of Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple). Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple are calculated by using normalized ranks for specific metrics for each stock. The normalized ranks for the metrics are then averaged and converted into percentiles for the relevant attribute. The precise calculation of each metric may vary depending on the fiscal year, industry and region, but the standard approach is as follows:

Growth is based on a stock's forward-looking sales growth, EBITDA growth and EPS growth (for financial stocks, only EPS and sales growth), with a higher percentile indicating a higher growth company. Financial Returns is based on a stock's forward-looking ROE, ROCE and CROCI (for financial stocks, only ROE), with a higher percentile indicating a company with higher financial returns. Multiple is based on a stock's forward-looking P/E, P/B, price/dividend (P/D), EV/EBITDA, EV/FCF and EV/Debt Adjusted Cash Flow (DACF) (for financial stocks, only P/E, P/B and P/D), with a higher percentile indicating a stock trading at a higher multiple. The Integrated percentile is calculated as the average of the Growth percentile, Financial Returns percentile and (100% - Multiple percentile).

Financial Returns and Multiple use the Goldman Sachs analyst forecasts at the fiscal year-end at least three quarters in the future. Growth uses inputs for the fiscal year at least seven quarters in the future compared with the year at least three quarters in the future (on a per-share basis for all metrics).

For a more detailed description of how we calculate the GS Factor Profile, please contact your GS representative.

M&A Rank

Across our global coverage, we examine stocks using an M&A framework, considering both qualitative factors and quantitative factors (which may vary across sectors and regions) to incorporate the potential that certain companies could be acquired. We then assign a M&A rank as a means of scoring companies under our rated coverage from 1 to 3, with 1 representing high (30%-50%) probability of the company becoming an acquisition target, 2 representing medium (15%-30%) probability and 3 representing low (0%-15%) probability. For companies ranked 1 or 2, in line with our standard departmental guidelines we incorporate an M&A component into our target price. M&A rank of 3 is considered immaterial and therefore does not factor into our price target, and may or may not be discussed in research.

Ratings, coverage universe and related definitions

Buy (B), Neutral (N), Sell (S) Analysts recommend stocks as Buys or Sells for inclusion on various regional Investment Lists. Being assigned a Buy or Sell on an Investment List is determined by a stock's total return potential relative to its coverage universe. Any stock not assigned as a Buy or a Sell on an Investment List with an active rating (i.e., a stock that is not Rating Suspended, Not Rated, Early-Stage Biotech, Coverage Suspended or Not Covered), is deemed Neutral. Each region manages Regional Conviction Lists, which are selected from Buy rated stocks on the respective region's Investment Lists and represent investment recommendations focused on the size of the total return potential and/or the likelihood of the realization of the return across their respective areas of coverage. The addition or removal of stocks from such Conviction Lists are managed by the Investment Review Committee or other designated committee in each respective region and do not represent a change in the analysts' investment rating for such stocks.

Total return potential represents the upside or downside differential between the current share price and the price target, including all paid or anticipated dividends, expected during the time horizon associated with the price target. Price targets are required for all covered stocks. The total return potential, price target and associated time horizon are stated in each report adding or reiterating an Investment List membership.

Coverage Universe: A list of all stocks in each coverage universe is available by primary analyst, stock and coverage universe at https://www.gs.com/research/hedge.html.

Not Rated (NR). The investment rating, target price and earnings estimates (where relevant) are removed pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when Goldman Sachs is acting in an advisory capacity in a merger or in a strategic transaction involving this company, when there are legal, regulatory or policy constraints due to Goldman Sachs' involvement in a transaction, and in certain other circumstances. Early-Stage Biotech (ES). An investment rating and a target price are not assigned pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when this company has neither a drug, treatment or medical device that has passed a Phase II clinical trial nor a license to distribute a post-Phase II drug, treatment or medical device. Rating Suspended (RS). Goldman Sachs

Research has suspended the investment rating and price target for this stock, because there is not a sufficient fundamental basis for determining an investment rating or target price. The previous investment rating and target price, if any, are no longer in effect for this stock and should not be relied upon. Coverage Suspended (CS). Goldman Sachs has suspended coverage of this company. Not Covered (NC). Goldman Sachs does not cover this company.
