Numerator Energy Drinks Monitor

In this monthly edition, we highlight the latest Numerator data (May 2026) for the energy category and brand KPIs (see methodology below). We summarize key conclusions from the data below. All supporting data points by brand are inside this note.

Key Brand Takeaways

Monster (MNST, Neutral)

- The data remains better than peers for Monster, both on an absolute basis and relative to peers, and while KPIs for Monster decelerated sequentially vs. prior month on softer buy rate (purchase frequency deceleration), trends have been more resilient vs. peers.
- Household penetration gains were mostly flat sequentially, decelerating by a slight -7 bps sequentially in 13-weeks ended May to +177 bps YOY (second consecutive period of slight deceleration following five consecutive months of accelerating household penetration gain trend); that said, sequentially on an absolute basis Monster household penetration increased +56 bps vs. prior monthly 13-week period (to 32.7%) and reached a new high.
- Buy rate growth decelerated sequentially by -246 bps in 13-weeks ended May to +6% YOY, still well above Red Bull and best among the more mature brands, but below recent +HSD-LDD% trend over prior three rolling 13-week monthly periods; on an absolute basis Monster buy rate decreased -0.5% vs. April.
- Purchase frequency growth decelerated sequentially by -200 bps in 13-weeks ended May to flat YOY (third consecutive period of decelerating purchase frequency growth following six consecutive periods of improving purchase frequency growth); on an absolute basis Monster purchase frequency decreased -1.0% vs. April.
- Spend per trip decelerated slightly sequentially by -34 bps in 13-weeks ended May to +6% YOY (23rd consecutive monthly 13-week period of +MSD-HSD% spend per trip growth); on an absolute basis Monster spend per trip reached a new high and increased +0.6% vs. prior monthly 13-week period April.
- All-in, Numerator projected sales for Monster decelerated sequentially (-314 bps) to +14% YOY while Circana shows a -70 bps deceleration in L13W 5/31/26 to +13.1% (vs. +13.8% L13W 5/3/26).

Celsius Holdings (CELH, Overweight, AFL)

- The data appear to be softer sequentially for Celsius Holdings with deceleration in sequential trend for both Celsius (buy rate deceleration) and Alani Nu (household penetration and buy rate deceleration), which is consistent with the tracked channel data. That said, the data for Alani Nu remain robust and Celsius household penetration and purchase frequency on an absolute basis are holding up better vs. the YOY trends.
- Household penetration for Alani Nu decelerated sequentially (-62 bps to +426 bps YOY) but remains very strong and reached a new high on an absolute basis (15.3% 13-weeks May, +8 bps sequentially vs. 13-weeks April); Celsius household penetration was largely flat sequentially, decelerating a very slight -4 bps, and remains negative YOY (-89 bps YOY) for the fourth consecutive monthly 13-week period; that said, on an absolute basis Celsius household penetration increased +35 bps to 15.9%, second consecutive monthly 13-week period of improving household penetration following six consecutive monthly 13-week periods of moderating household penetration.

- Alani Nu buy rate decelerated modestly by -206 bps sequentially to +25% YOY (still very strong YOY and second to only Bloom on YOY basis); on an absolute basis Alani Nu buy rate decreased -0.8% sequentially vs. prior monthly 13-week period. Alani Nu buy rate deceleration was driven entirely by purchase frequency (+14% YOY decelerated -347 bps sequentially; on an absolute basis decreased -0.7% vs. 13-weeks April following four consecutive periods of improving purchase frequency) while spend per trip accelerated (+148 bps sequentially to +10% YOY; on absolute basis largely flat sequentially vs. 13-weeks April).
- Celsius buy rate decelerated sequentially (-484 bps sequentially to flat YOY), driven mostly by moderation in purchase frequency (decelerated -452 bps sequentially to -4% YOY; on an absolute basis, however, increased +0.2% vs. 13-weeks April) while spend per trip was largely stable (+4% YOY; on an absolute basis decreased -0.3% sequentially vs. 13-weeks April).
- All-in, Numerator projected sales for CELH “combined” softened sequentially (-604 bps) to +11.3% YOY while Circana shows a -460 bps deceleration in L13W 5/31/26 to +20.5% (vs. L13W 5/3/26); Numerator projected sales for Alani Nu +76% decelerated -1,420 bps (vs. Circana L13W 5/31/26 -1,080 bps to +72.3%) and for Celsius -3% decelerated -487 bps (vs. Circana L13W 5/31/26 -320 bps to -0.3%).

Red Bull (Private)

- The data appear softer sequentially for Red Bull (private), as buy rate growth decelerated and inflected negative, although household penetration gains remain solid. Deceleration in the Numerator data was stronger than the moderation in trends seen in Circana data L13W 5/31/26 vs. L13W 5/3/26.
- Household penetration gains decelerated sequentially (-17 bps to +189 bps YOY) following four consecutive monthly 13-week periods of accelerating household penetration gains, although on an absolute basis improved +76 bps sequentially vs. 13-weeks April and reached a new high (38.5%). Red Bull household penetration gains remain ahead of Monster.
- Buy rate decelerated sequentially YOY and inflected negative to -3% YOY (from +4% in 13-weeks April) following four consecutive monthly 13-week periods of YOY buy rate growth. Buy rate deceleration was driven predominantly by deceleration in purchase frequency of -411 bps to -4% YOY (softest YOY performance since 13-weeks July 2024) while spend per trip also decelerated by -187 bps to +2% YOY (although largely in-line with recent +LSD% YOY trends). On an absolute basis buy rate decreased -1.5% sequentially vs. 13-week period April with largely stable purchase frequency (+0.2% sequentially) and lower spend per trip (-1.7% sequentially).
- All-in, Numerator projected sales for Red Bull decelerated to +4% in 13-weeks May vs. +11% 13-weeks April (-718 bps sequentially) while Circana L13W 5/31/26 takeaway +5.6% decelerated -400 bps from +9.6% L13W 5/3/26.

Keurig Dr Pepper (KDP, Overweight)

- For Keurig Dr Pepper, the data appear mostly unfavorable sequentially, in our view, with GHOST buy rate trend decelerating (albeit household penetration trends a bit better). Bloom remains strong but decelerated. GHOST trends remain tepid in the Numerator data with buy rate deceleration driven by purchase frequency partially offset by slightly better household penetration trends, leading to a modest deceleration in projected sales (Circana trends remain notably stronger for GHOST vs. Numerator). C4 saw a very steep deceleration in buy rate trends driven by both purchase frequency and spend per trip, although household penetration trends remain better; Circana trends are now slightly better than Numerator trends vs. recent history of Numerator running well ahead of Circana. Bloom continues to perform very well across most key KPIs (+DDD% growth, strong household penetration gains and buy rate growth), although is moderating as comp base gets larger.

- Household penetration for GHOST were mostly flat sequentially (+9 bps vs. 13-weeks April) at +12 bps YOY, third consecutive period of YOY household penetration gains following four consecutive periods of YOY household penetration declines; on an absolute basis GHOST household penetration improved +29 bps sequentially vs. 13-weeks April to 6.2%. Household penetration for C4 was up YOY with gains improving slightly sequentially to +54 bps YOY (seventh consecutive monthly 13-week period of YOY household penetration growth and third consecutive period of accelerating household penetration gains) and on an absolute basis improved +52 bps sequentially vs. 13-weeks April to 7.7%. Bloom household penetration gains improved +62 bps sequentially to +451 bps YOY (best among brands we track) and on an absolute basis reached a new peak of 7.9% (+107 bps sequentially vs. 13-weeks April).
- Buy rate for GHOST decelerated sequentially flat YOY from +3% YOY in 13-weeks April, but on an absolute basis increased nearly +2% vs. 13-weeks April; C4 buy rate growth decelerated materially to -9% YOY vs. +4% YOY in 13-weeks April and on an absolute basis decreased about -12% sequentially; Bloom buy rate growth remains very strong at +32% YOY but decelerated sequentially on a YOY basis (vs. +44% in 13-weeks April) for the fourth consecutive monthly 13-week period and on an absolute basis decreased -2.8% sequentially vs. 13-weeks April.
- The change in buy rate for GHOST was driven by deceleration in purchase frequency (-302 bps sequentially to -3% YOY in 13-weeks May) while purchase frequency was flat sequentially at +3% YOY. The buy rate deceleration for C4 was driven by both purchase frequency (-802 bps sequentially to -6% YOY - fifth period of past six with declining YOY purchase frequency) and spend per trip (-498 bps sequentially to -4% YOY - first YOY decline for the brand in our dataset). Bloom buy rate is being driven by strong growth in purchase frequency (+37% YOY, improved slightly sequentially vs. 13-weeks April) while spend per trip decelerated and inflected negative YOY (-899 bps sequentially to -4% YOY).
- We note that the Circana trends appear much more constructive for GHOST (L13W 5/31/26 takeaway decelerated -300 bps sequentially to +28.7% from +31.7% L13W 5/3/26 but are running significantly ahead of Numerator +3% YOY) and somewhat more constructive for C4 (L13W 5/31/26 +1.0% improved +100 bps sequentially while Numerator decelerated materially to -1% YOY 13-weeks May); projected sales growth for Bloom are strong +DDD% in both datasets, albeit decelerated sequentially.

Key Category Takeaways

- Projected sales decelerated -526 bps sequentially to +10% in May, the second consecutive monthly period of deceleration following four consecutive monthly periods of sequential acceleration on a rolling 13-week basis; slowest YOY growth since 13-week period February 2025. Within the projected sales growth deceleration, buy rate decelerated (-346 bps sequentially to +3% YOY) and household penetration growth moderated (-61 bps sequentially to +286 bps YOY) vs. prior month. Household penetration improved sequentially on an absolute basis to 55.0% (from 54.2% in rolling 13-weeks ending April) and reached a new high while buy rate decreased -0.4% sequentially on an absolute basis from rolling 13-weeks ended April and moderated to +LSD% YOY following five consecutive monthly rolling 13-week periods of +5-10% YOY growth.

- Buy rate growth decelerated across income and age cohorts and was mixed by channel in May, but decelerated meaningfully in gas & convenience. Buy rate decelerated most for low income cohort (-497 bps to +2% YOY in May), the third consecutive month of deceleration, and also decelerated meaningfully for high income (-418 bps sequentially to -1% YOY in May) and middle income (-211 bps sequentially to +6% YOY in May); on an absolute basis, buy rate reached an absolute high for middle income (+0.2% sequentially vs. prior month) and decreased for low and high income by about -1%. Buy rate decelerated the most for Gen Z (-1,196 bps sequentially to +1% YOY) and decelerated for other age cohorts; on an absolute basis, Gen Z buy rate decreased nearly -5% sequentially and Millennials buy rate decreased -2% sequentially; Gen X and Boomers buy rate reached new highs. Buy rate decelerated meaningfully in gas & convenience (-644 bps sequentially to +3% YOY), softest YOY performance since 13-weeks July 2024, and also decelerated in mass (-197 bps sequentially to +7% YOY) and club (-361 bps sequentially to -5% YOY) but was stable/improving in other channels; on an absolute basis vs. April buy rate decreased -0.6% in gas & convenience, -1.3% in food, -2.6% in mass, -1.3% online, and -4.8% in club.
- Household penetration moderated sequentially across income cohorts, most age cohorts, and was more mixed by channel, but declined in gas & convenience in 13-weeks May. Household penetration decelerated for low income and inflected negative YOY (-27 bps sequentially to -21 bps YOY) and also decelerated for middle and high income, but remains positive YOY; on an absolute basis sequentially household penetration was flat for low income and improved about +40 bps for both middle and high income with both reaching new highs. Household penetration decelerated for Boomers, Gen X, and Gen Z and was largely flat sequentially for Millennials; on an absolute basis Millennial and Gen Z household penetration reached new highs. Household penetration inflected negative YOY in gas & convenience and also decelerated in food and online; on an absolute basis household penetration improved sequentially across channels.
- Buy rate sequential deceleration was driven mostly by sequentially softer purchase frequency (-303 bps sequentially to -2% YOY) while spend per trip decelerated slightly (-27 bps sequentially to +5% YOY). Purchase frequency decelerated for second consecutive period following five consecutive rolling 13-week months of acceleration and inflected negative for the first time since 13-weeks November 2025; purchase frequency improved +0.3% on an absolute basis sequentially vs. April. Spend per trip growth has been +MSD-HSD% YOY for 22 consecutive rolling 13-week months; on an absolute basis spend per trip softened -0.1% vs. April.
- Purchase frequency decelerated across income and age cohorts and was mixed by channel (but decelerated meaningfully in gas & convenience) in May. Purchase frequency decelerated roughly equally for low and high income nearly -400 bps sequentially and decelerated nearly -200 bps sequentially for middle income — on a YOY basis purchase frequency inflected negative for low income (decelerated for three consecutive monthly 13-week periods and softest YOY since March 2025), decreased -6% YOY for high income (second consecutive period of YOY declines), and decelerated to flat YOY for middle income; on an absolute basis sequentially purchase frequency decreased almost -1% for low and high income and increased slightly for middle income. Purchase frequency decelerated most for Gen Z (-979 bps to -1% YOY) and inflected negative YOY for first time since March 2024 and decelerated for other age cohorts (Millennials, Boomers declining YOY, Gen X flat YOY); on an absolute basis sequentially vs. 13-weeks April Gen Z purchase frequency decreased -3.4% and Millennials decreased -1.3%, while Gen X and Boomers increased +1% and +1.5%, respectively. Purchase frequency decelerated most in gas & convenience (-567 bps) and inflected negative to -2% YOY, only channel declining on YOY basis in 13-weeks May, while others were flat to +LSD% YOY; on an absolute basis purchase frequency decreased -1.2% sequentially vs. April in gas & convenience.

- Spend per trip was softer sequentially across income cohorts but was mixed by age and channel in 13-weeks May. Spend per trip remained +MSD% YOY for age cohorts but decelerated about 1 point for low income, although on an absolute basis sequentially vs. 13-weeks April spend per trip was largely flat across income cohorts. Spend per trip decelerated sequentially for Gen Z (-184 bps sequentially to +2% YOY) and Millennials (-95 bps sequentially to +5% YOY) but improved slightly for Boomers and Gen X; on an absolute basis sequentially vs. 13-weeks April, Gen Z spend per trip decreased -1.4% while Gen X spend per trip increased +1.0% while Millennials and Boomers were generally stable. Spend per trip in gas & convenience was still +MSD% YOY and reached a new high on an absolute basis while most other channels saw decreased spend per trip sequentially on an absolute basis vs. 13-weeks April.

Methodology:

In this monthly publication, we leverage Numerator, an alternative data provider that sources first-party consumer information, to assess trends in the U.S. energy drinks category. Data within this note are organized on a rolling 13-week by month basis and include trends by category and top brands for metrics such as projected sales, projected units, household penetration, buy rate, purchase frequency and spend per trip and attributes such as income, age, geographic region, and channel. We encourage investors to focus more on the directional trends and rate of change relative to absolute numbers or percentages.

Initiated coverage Dec 02, 2013. All share prices are as of market close on the previous business day.

The chart(s) show J.P. Morgan's continuing coverage of the stocks; the current analysts may or may not have covered it over the entire period. J.P. Morgan ratings or designations: OW = Overweight, N= Neutral, UW = Underweight, NR = Not Rated

Explanation of Equity Research Ratings, Designations and Analyst(s) Coverage Universe:

J.P. Morgan uses the following rating system: Overweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will outperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe); Neutral (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will perform in line with the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe); and Underweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe). NR is Not Rated. In this case, J.P. Morgan has removed the rating and, if applicable, the price target, for this stock because of either a lack of a sufficient fundamental basis or for legal, regulatory or policy reasons. The previous rating and, if applicable, the price target, no longer should be relied upon. An NR designation is not a recommendation or a rating. Some stocks under coverage have a rating but no price target; in these cases, we expect the stock will outperform/perform in line/underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe of the relevant duration of the region. In our Asia (ex-Australia and ex-India) and U.K. small- and mid-cap Equity Research, each stock's expected total return is compared to the expected total return of a benchmark country market index, not to those Research Analysts' coverage universe. If it does not appear in the Important Disclosures section of this report, the certifying Research Analyst's coverage universe can be found on J.P. Morgan's Research website, <https://www.jpmorganmarkets.com>.

Coverage Universe: Teixeira, Andrea : Celsius Holdings (CELH), Central Garden & Pet (CENTA), Church & Dwight (CHD), Clorox (CLX), Coca-Cola (KO), Colgate-Palmolive Co (CL), Coty Inc (COTY), Energizer Holdings (ENR), Kenvue (KVUE), Keurig Dr Pepper Inc (KDP), Kimberly Clark Corp (KMB), Monster Beverage (MNST), Newell Brands Inc (NWL), Olaplex (OLPX), PepsiCo (PEP), Primo Brands (PRMB), Reynolds (REYN), SharkNinja (SN), The Estee Lauder Cos (EL), The Honest Company (HNST), The Procter & Gamble Company (PG), e.l.f.
