Monthly Datapack: Southbound and Long-Only Positions in Insurers in June

Key Takeaways

- LO positions in Ping An fell MoM in a divergent equity market; AIA's LO positions also dropped, likely reflecting concerns over its MCV business.
- China Life's LO positions further recovered MoM on high earnings expectations. PICC P&C's LO positions also improved, aided by appealing valuation.
- Southbound inflows to PICC P&C continued in June and early July; AIA and PICC Group also saw net inflows in June post the share price correction.
- China Life saw southbound outflows in June after strong net inflows last month; Ping An and CPIC also recorded net outflows.
- We see appealing valuations amid less extreme market divergence in July and expect healthy 1H26 results on solid fundamentals & strong investment results.

Southbound (SB): We see divergent southbound holdings as a share of total H-shares across insurers in June and early July.

- Notably, PICC P&C's SB holdings continued to rise, up 1.1ppts MoM in June, supported by its attractive dividend yield of ~6%, despite potential catastrophe loss headwinds. PICC Group also saw a 0.3ppts increase in June.
- AIA's SB holdings recovered 0.2ppts MoM in June, vs. a 0.2ppts decline in May. We believe investors were buying the dip following cross-border concerns.
- China Life, Ping An and CPIC saw SB holdings drop 0.7ppts each.

Long-only (LO):

- AIA's LO positions fell 0.3ppts MoM to 2.6% at end-May on concerns over MCV insurance sales, although we believe the business will not be affected. Onshore and global investors also appeared to hold divergent views.
- Ping An also saw a 0.6ppts decline in LO positions to 2.8%, amid a rotation to AI-related sectors and concerns over national team selling.
- China Life's LO positions recovered 0.1ppts to 0.9%, likely supported by the outperformance of the A-share market in May-June.
- PICC P&C's LO positions also increased 0.1ppts, mainly due to appealing valuation and healthy fundamentals.
