

Americas Retail: Analyzing Tractor Supply's competitive positioning in Pet; Prices remain higher than the average but assortment is improving

Given the stock underperformance since Tractor Supply reported 1Q26 results and investors' concern around the pet industry, we continue to monitor pet pricing and SKU analysis across the pet space. We highlight our recent note last analyzing these dynamics on 6/8, linked here.

Since our last note, we observe that overall pricing trended slightly lower for all retailers except Amazon, which was ~flat vs. the June analysis. However, we note that SKU counts for Tractor Supply have increased for cat food and treats relative to the prior month, while they decreased for cat toys, dog food, dog treats, and dog toys. Further, our Hundredx analysis suggests a similar trend as our last publication in June, wherein Tractor Supply ranks above Petco but fall below its peers (Walmart and Chewy) in terms of price and value perception. We note Tractor Supply is actively addressing its assortment, however, management guides that we will likely not see an improvement until 2H 2026, and the pet space remains highly competitive. Additionally, in this note, we preview TSCO 2Q26 earnings and highlight commentary from General Mills on the pet industry. (Please see within).

We have maintained our Buy rating on the name in the face of some of these challenges given the stock appears to be pricing in this more intense competitive environment and also challenges from a drought that is likely weighing on Q2 results. We would become more concerned if we didn't see the company's changes in the pet category result in any improvement. Our price target is at $43.

Pricing analysis

Our most recent pricing survey (7/1/26) suggests Tractor Supply's overall prices remain above the competitive set average. We updated our pet pricing survey, which analyzes prices across 20 pet products (10 dog products and 10 cat products), comparing prices between Tractor Supply and four competitors, including mass retailers (Amazon and Walmart) and pet-specialty stores Petco and Chewy (covered by Eric Sheridan). Tractor Supply maintained a competitive edge in its dog category for the last two months; however, in July, the prices for the 10 dog products analyzed trended above most of the peer average (at -0.2% vs. -2.4% for Chewy, -1.1% for Walmart, -0.7% for Amazon, and +5.3% for Petco). Additionally, we note higher prices in the cat category, with Tractor Supply's cat product pricing above the competitive set at +5.3% (vs. -0.8% for Petco, -1.4% for Walmart, -2.0% for Chewy, and -2.2% for Amazon), contributing to an overall price position that sits above the peer average.

Comparing our recent pricing survey to the June pricing study, we observe that overall pricing trended slightly lower for all retailers except Amazon, which was ~flat vs. the June analysis. We note that Chewy saw the highest pricing gap in July vs. a month prior.

SKU analysis

Our analysis of SKU counts across the dog and cat food, treats, and toys categories reveals a significant deficit for Tractor Supply relative to its primary competitors: Chewy, Amazon, Walmart, and Petco. Tractor Supply maintains the lowest SKU count in cat food, cat treats, and cat toys vs. peers. However, we observe that SKU counts for Tractor Supply have increased for cat food and treats relative to the prior month, while they decreased for cat toys, dog food, dog treats, and dog toys.

Tractor Supply's 1Q26 results highlighted a notable 100 bps drag on comparable store sales from the companion animal segment. According to management, the primary headwind remains a decline in the domestic dog population, which disproportionately affects Tractor Supply given its ~20-point over-index in the dog category (80% of mix vs. 60% industry average). Conversely, the company under-indexes in the growing cat segment and the rapidly expanding fresh and premium nutrition categories. While management notes its pet share performance has remained stable over the last 4-5 quarters, it continues to track below company's expectations.

Customers' views across key KPIs

The charts below analyze customers' views among Tractor Supply, Walmart, Petco, and Chewy across key KPIs including price and value. Tractor Supply has always tracked below Walmart and Chewy on price perception, however we would note that the gap, which had narrowed for a few months, is now widening again between Tractor Supply and Chewy. When analyzing value perception, Tractor Supply is still behind that of Chewy and Walmart, with the gap widening slightly between the top two (Chewy and Walmart) and Tractor Supply.

Tractor Supply 2026 preview

On the company's Q1 call, management reiterated FY26 guidance (1% to 3% comp range), but anticipated companion animal will remain under modest pressure, likely finishing the year at ~flat to slightly negative SSS. Management noted that Q1 typically represents a seasonal over-index for pet (by ~5 points), suggesting the headwind might moderate in Q2 and expects a gradual recovery as new assortment initiatives take hold in the second half of the year. We lowered our estimates for Q2 on 6/22, based on incremental demand headwinds from a severe drought and still think consensus estimates may be too high (we estimate 2Q SSS at +0.5% (vs. LSEG Data & Analytics consensus at +1.1%) due to challenges in their pet category, as well as current drought conditions. Our FY26/27/28 EPS estimate is at $2.10/$2.32/$2.57, respectively (vs. consensus at $2.12/$2.30/$2.58, respectively), remains unchanged. However, we think there could be risk to the company lowering the EPS guidance range both for comp and EPS ($2.13-$2.23), given drought conditions which may persist into Q3 and any kind of margin pressure that could result if Tractor Supply has to get more promotional with their pet offering.

General Mills read through

General Mills Inc. (GIS; Covered by Leah Jordan): Reported F4Q26 results (for the three months ended May 31, 2026) on July 1st, 2026.

- F4Q26 results: In F4Q, organic sales for Pet decreased -3% (in line with last quarter), which lagged retail sales by ~2pts due to changes in retailer inventory and unfavorable customer mix, with volumes down -6% in the quarter while price/mix tracked at +3%. Segment operating profit grew +14%, driven by favorable net price realization and mix, and lower input costs, despite a double-digit increase in media investment.
- Industry trends: Management noted that the pet category continues to experience slower volume growth as consumers remain pressured. However, the segment held dollar share in dog feeding and cat feeding, which represent ~80% of its retail sales. By product type, cat food net sales grew double digits, dog food grew low-single digits, and pet treats declined low-single digits.
- Consumer trends: Consumers are increasingly seeking value, buying more on promotion and less at everyday prices, which has driven a less profitable mix of volume. Despite these headwinds, the company saw positive momentum in premium offerings, with Blue Buffalo's Love Made Fresh, fresh pet food accelerating, supported by expanded distribution. However, dog food, particularly the Wilderness brand, remained a drag, and the company is taking corrective actions on Wilderness.
- FY27 outlook: For FY27, General Mills expects pet category growth to remain consistent with FY26 levels and below its long-term historical growth rate, reflecting a continued challenging consumer backdrop. The company plans to drive growth through product innovation focused on pet humanization trends.
- Implications: We view GIS's pet segment results as a mixed read-through for the pet industry. While the 14% operating profit growth and double-digit gains in cat food highlight pockets of resilience and strong execution, the 3% decline in organic net sales underscore persistent volume pressures and a highly promotional, value-conscious consumer environment.

Valuation & Risks

TSCO

We are Buy rated on TSCO. Our 12-month price target is at $43 based on our downside/base/upside case relative P/E multiples of 80%/85%/90% (unchanged).

Downside risks include an unexpected slowdown in demand; higher-than-expected investment spend and cost deleverage as the company builds out its new strategic initiatives; execution issues, including delays in opening Side Lots and completing remodels; higher distribution and transportation costs leading to margin pressure; greater-than-expected pressure from e-commerce; and acquisition integration and execution challenges.

GIS

We are Neutral rated on GIS. Our 12-month price target to $35 is based on our risk-reward framework with a 50/50 blend of target P/E with downside/base/upside cases of 10x/11x/12x and target EV/EBITDA with downside/base/upside cases of 9.5x/10x/10.5.

Key upside risks include an improvement in economic activity which could result in greater-than-expected consumer spending, resulting in higher demand; consumer shifts toward food-at-home; better-than-expected share improvements in its categories; greater-than-expected engagement with its innovation efforts; better-than-expected promotional environment; higher-than-expected cost savings; and lower input cost inflation across commodities, labor, and/or transportation.

Key downside risks include a slowdown in economic activity which could lead to a reduction of consumer spending, resulting in lower demand and/or potential trade-down to lower priced products (e.g., private label); consumer shifts away from food-at-home; incremental promotional pressure across the industry which could limit top line growth and pressure margins; low consumer receptivity to innovation efforts which could lead to market share losses and/or incremental marketing spending; lower-than-expected execution on its cost savings efforts; and higher input cost inflation across commodities, labor, and/or transportation which could pressure margins if the company is not able to pass along through various pricing actions.

GS Factor Profile

The Goldman Sachs Factor Profile provides investment context for a stock by comparing key attributes to the market (i.e. our universe of rated stocks) and its sector peers. The four key attributes depicted are: Growth, Financial Returns, Multiple (e.g. valuation) and Integrated (a composite of Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple). Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple are calculated by using normalized ranks for specific metrics for each stock. The normalized ranks for the metrics are then averaged and converted into percentiles for the relevant attribute. The precise calculation of each metric may vary depending on the fiscal year, industry and region, but the standard approach is as follows:

Growth is based on a stock's forward-looking sales growth, EBITDA growth and EPS growth (for financial stocks, only EPS and sales growth), with a higher percentile indicating a higher growth company. Financial Returns is based on a stock's forward-looking ROE, ROCE and CROCI (for financial stocks, only ROE), with a higher percentile indicating a company with higher financial returns. Multiple is based on a stock's forward-looking P/E, P/B, price/dividend (P/D), EV/EBITDA, EV/FCF and EV/Debt Adjusted Cash Flow (DACF) (for financial stocks, only P/E, P/B and P/D), with a higher percentile indicating a stock trading at a higher multiple. The Integrated percentile is calculated as the average of the Growth percentile, Financial Returns percentile and (100% - Multiple percentile).

Financial Returns and Multiple use the Goldman Sachs analyst forecasts at the fiscal year-end at least three quarters in the future. Growth uses inputs for the fiscal year at least seven quarters in the future compared with the year at least three quarters in the future (on a per-share basis for all metrics).

For a more detailed description of how we calculate the GS Factor Profile, please contact your GS representative.

M&A Rank

Across our global coverage, we examine stocks using an M&A framework, considering both qualitative factors and quantitative factors (which may vary across sectors and regions) to incorporate the potential that certain companies could be acquired. We then assign a M&A rank as a means of scoring companies under our rated coverage from 1 to 3, with 1 representing high (30%-50%) probability of the company becoming an acquisition target, 2 representing medium (15%-30%) probability and 3 representing low (0%-15%) probability. For companies ranked 1 or 2, in line with our standard departmental guidelines we incorporate an M&A component into our target price. M&A rank of 3 is considered immaterial and therefore does not factor into our price target, and may or may not be discussed in research.

Ratings, coverage universe and related definitions

Buy (B), Neutral (N), Sell (S) Analysts recommend stocks as Buys or Sells for inclusion on various regional Investment Lists. Being assigned a Buy or Sell on an Investment List is determined by a stock's total return potential relative to its coverage universe. Any stock not assigned as a Buy or a Sell on an Investment List with an active rating (i.e., a stock that is not Rating Suspended, Not Rated, Early-Stage Biotech, Coverage Suspended or Not Covered), is deemed Neutral. Each region manages Regional Conviction Lists, which are selected from Buy rated stocks on the respective region's Investment Lists and represent investment recommendations focused on the size of the total return potential and/or the likelihood of the realization of the return across their respective areas of coverage. The addition or removal of stocks from such Conviction Lists are managed by the Investment Review Committee or other designated committee in each respective region and do not represent a change in the analysts' investment rating for such stocks.

Total return potential represents the upside or downside differential between the current share price and the price target, including all paid or anticipated dividends, expected during the time horizon associated with the price target. Price targets are required for all covered stocks. The total return potential, price target and associated time horizon are stated in each report adding or reiterating an Investment List membership.

Coverage Universe: A list of all stocks in each coverage universe is available by primary analyst, stock and coverage universe at <https://www.gs.com/research/hedge.html>.

Not Rated (NR). The investment rating, target price and earnings estimates (where relevant) are removed pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when Goldman Sachs is acting in an advisory capacity in a merger or in a strategic transaction involving this company, when there are legal, regulatory or policy constraints due to Goldman Sachs' involvement in a transaction, and in certain other circumstances. Early-Stage Biotech (ES). An investment rating and a target price are not assigned pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when this company has neither a drug, treatment or medical device that has passed a Phase II clinical trial nor a license to distribute a post-Phase II drug, treatment or medical device. Rating Suspended (RS). Goldman Sachs Research has suspended the investment rating and price target for this stock, because there is not a sufficient fundamental basis for determining an investment rating or target price. The previous investment rating and target price, if any, are no longer in effect for this stock and should not be relied upon. Coverage Suspended (CS). Goldman Sachs has suspended coverage of this company. Not Covered (NC). Goldman Sachs does not cover this company.
