Conviction List, bringing a different lens to AI and TGS plus key research Conviction List. We added two new ideas to our Conviction List with Jessica Graham. The new additions are: 1) Siemens Energy, still a structural winner and Ajay Patel thinks the FY results will be a catalyst, expecting a raise to medium-term guidance; the story is increasingly led by Grid Technologies. 2) Smith & Nephew, which Richard Felton thinks has a potential near-term guidance reset creating an opportunity to revisit a name with innovation-driven growth momentum starting in the back half of this year. More below and a podcast version with the analysts on the new additions here.

AI – a different lens on the theme overall... We spent time with Jim Covello this week which brought us back to his April piece on AI Spend vs. Benefit and a couple of points to revisit from that: 1) the concentration of economic value in Semis is not sustainable; 2) data structure and orchestration are critical factors to unlock AI in the enterprise; and 3) despite significant spending, enterprise AI results are mixed at best.

...and on the AI disruption debate in Media & Internet names. Our new European Media and Internet analyst, Adam Berlin, initiated this week and also reminded us that the AI debate is nuanced. You can find the full suite of initiations below but this sector piece is a good one-stop-shop on why he remains generally constructive. Adam argues that the AI moats are generally more resilient and many of his Buy ratings are correlated with GBM's "AI at risk" basket despite having strong moats (e.g., Buy rated RELX scores best on his new AI framework, see Exhibit 11). One key variable in his framework is proprietary, difficult-to-replicate databases (and in sensitive areas like Legal, it is important that these data sources are reliable) which is a key part of having a defensible AI moat as we have discussed for other names (e.g., LSEG, which was at our European Financials Conference this week and talked about delivering trusted, licensed and AI-ready content).

TGS – Don't forget the oil capex story. While the market focus is narrow, we still think it is worth paying attention to oil services and TGS (Buy) in particular. Michele della Vigna has highlighted the growing evidence that IOCs are warming up to spend more on exploration and, while calling timing is difficult, when seismic spend comes in, it is historically lumpy and shares re-rate quickly. The seismic industry has consolidated along with TGS and is in a position to wait for the upcycle and see real pricing power when it comes through. Before the Middle East dominated energy headlines, we were already starting to see the case for a return to capex, underpinned by falling reserve life and maturing shale (see here for what we wrote in December 2025 on the topic) so this is not just a SoH trade.

Ferrari field trip. We sat down to discuss Christian Frenes' Ferrari field trip, timely after the EV launch last week saw shares sell off and a social media debate. Listen to him explain why he still likes the name for ASP-driven upgrades (Buy rated).

Conviction List

European Conviction List: June 2026 Update – We add Siemens Energy and Smith & Nephew to the Conviction List. Listen to the podcast version here.

- Siemens Energy: Ajay Patel thinks that we will see medium-term guidance raised at FY results (he is 10% ahead of FY30E consensus EBITA) and an update on capital return (he sees potential for €29bn to be returned by 2030E, well above the €10bn currently committed to). This is a structural winner, in his view, exposed to increased power demand from data centers and grid investment (via the less appreciated Grid Technologies business). While the stock has already had a strong run, he continues to see upside on a valuation basis vs. its closest peer (GEV in the US).
- Smith & Nephew: Richard Felton sees a potential near-term guidance reset at Smith & Nephew as an opportunity to revisit a name with innovation-driven accelerating growth momentum starting in the back half of this year. He sees numerous product launches which, along with operating model simplification, should drive margins higher. Valuation for this growth looks reasonable, with his stress tests suggesting the market is not pricing in the launches. See also: Continue to see attractive risk-reward

Wise Group (WSE): Wise addresses Belgian investigation into AML practices; Buy (on Conviction List)

BT Group (BT.L): Submits targeted, time-limited Openreach pricing proposals to Ofcom; Buy (on Conviction List)

Ratings Changes & Initiations

Media & Internet initiations from Adam Berlin were in focus this week – Sector note here summarises his views but he also has sub-sector/company notes below:

European Media & Internet: AI exposure in focus, but we see value in most sub-sectors

- Advertising: Initiate on Publicis/Omnicom at Buy and WPP at Sell – Recovery in sector growth and limited evidence that barriers to entry are weakening due to AI (see his AI framework). Buy Publicis (HSD EPS growth to 2028E helped by M&A and margin expansion, 11% FCF yield), Omnicom (18% FCF yield with core biz delivering org growth), Sell WPP (limited visibility on return to growth).
- RELX Plc (REL.L): Initiate at Buy – Scores 9 / 10 on AI framework and yet misplaced as AI at risk category, strong growth tailwinds across divisions, 6% FCF yield vs market pricing in 2.5% to perpetuity.
- Wolters Kluwer (WLSNc.AS): Initiate at Neutral – Valuation is undemanding but few catalysts for a re-rating, below consensus and already assumes acceleration in top line after soft 1Q.
- Classifieds: Initiate on Autotrader and Scout24 at Buy, Rightmove at Neutral; maintain SMG at Neutral – AI does not materially increase disintermediation risks (general LLMs can't scrape real time, DIY agents to remain niche). Stocks: Buy Scout24 and Autotrader (slowdown in UK could remind dealers of value of leads), Neutral Rightmove (incl M&A component). SMG (Neutral, transfer of coverage).
- Prosus/Naspers: Initiating on Prosus and Naspers (both Neutral) – Cautious stance reflects his view that current management guidance for operating performance and buybacks, even if met, is insufficient to narrow its discount to its NAV over the next 12m.

Stroeer SE & Co. (SAXG.DE): Downgrade to Sell – James Tate highlights a weaker German consumer macro picture and deteriorating trends at Statista and ASAM Beauty with execution risk on AI strategy; the upside risk is value crystallisation above SOTP.

Ahold Delhaize NV (AD.AS): Downgrade to Neutral – Richard Edwards notes OBBB changes have led to a HSD drop in national SNAP participation (food benefits) with potential for further declines. There are also weakening trends beyond this; however Richard remains Neutral as he assumes margins will hold up.

Wartsila (WRT1V.HE): Up to Neutral – Daniela Costa materially increases her estimates to reflect capacity announcement in May (in addition to the Feb one) and 1Q, which saw a strong order backlog from Energy and Marine capex growth with potential O&G recovery as limiting downside risk. She is now 16%/14% ahead on Visible Alpha Consensus adj EBIT 27/28.

Barry Callebaut (BARN.S): Down to Neutral - Sam Darbyshire highlights the strategy update was encouraging but will take time to materialise and industry overcapacity headwinds is set to persist till end of FY27. She cuts her volume growth (key driver near term) to 3.6% in FY27 vs cons 4.1%.

Segro (SGRO.L) up to Buy as Jonathan Kownator sees letting momentum improving and support from data centres, he also brings Castellum (CAST.ST) down to Neutral given a less favorable macro outlook, see note in sectors updates bucket.

Conferences & Management takeaways

30th European Financials Conference in Zurich was the focus this week, with 130 corporates attending (113 C-Suite). See all takeaway notes here, some highlights and sector pieces

- HSBC (HSBC.L/000.5.HK): Buy (HSBC.L also on Conviction List) – 1) structural trends within the current global environment; 2) wealth opportunities in particular; and 3) ongoing simplification efforts and the re-allocation of investment.
- BBVA (BBVA.MC): Buy (on Conviction List) – 1) key levers for their 2028 ROTE target of 22%, 2) AI-related opportunity and focus on operating efficiency, 3) client acquisition focus in Spain, 4) positive customer dynamics in Mexico, and 5) focus on organic capital generation and shareholder distribution.
- Europe Insurance – P&C cycle management remains key given pricing trends, retail pricing generally at least inline with claims inflation in most major markets (ex UK) but companies are prepared for potential inflationary risk from Middle East conflict. Several examples of AI as enablers. M&A consistently seen as a tool for additional capital deployment.
- Europe Real Estate – Investors were focused on further risks on AI on offices and from inflation on retail and there was a general view that total return needs to go up for the sector to be more attractive (Jonathan Kownator remains broadly constructive – see sector updates)
- Vonovia (VNA.DE): Buy (on Conviction List) – 1) rental growth (eg Berlin Mietspiegel), 2) potential benefits from AI, 3) disposals and balance sheet, 4) regulation and the Berlin election. Management reiterated its mid-term EPS growth ambition of mid-single digit, increasing towards high-single digit in the medium term.
- Europe Software & Payments – Importance of orchestrating semantic layers around business context to leverage Agentic AI was a key discussion
- Europe Capital Markets Retail investing panel – Success of Nordic model was highlighted and emerging opportunities in Europe more broadly. The panel focused on the impact of a shifting regulatory landscape, the rise of cross-border competition and the importance of scale, as well as the transformative role of AI.

Ferrari NV (RACE.MI): Maranello Fieldtrip takeaways; Buy – Following his trip, Christian Frenes highlights the Luce EV is positioned as additive, seeing sustained strength of personalization supporting his view of continued ASP strength. We had Christian on our new edition of On the Road with GS – Europe edition, discussing his visit in detail, listen here.

Wartsila (WRT1V.HE): Key takeaways from CEO Webcast; Neutral – Daniela Costa highlights very solid datacenter growth and a sustained electrification push underpin a robust demand outlook, with off-grid power generation taking share as a core enabling technology.

Getlink (GETP.PA): Feedback from management meeting; Buy

US Strategy: Corporate equity demand should outweigh record IPO supply in 2026 – Ben Snider highlights corporate equity demand should outweigh record IPO supply in 2026, raising his forecast for 2026 IPO volumes to $225bn from $160bn. He notes additional supply as lock-ups expire is an area to watch, expecting nearly $500bn of potential equity supply in 2026 following historical patterns, although this may not materialize if investors choose to maintain ownership positions.

Europe Strategy: Deal Momentum Builds, Europe Stays Cautious – Guillaume Jaisson highlights H2 2026 pipeline is underpinned by structural supply from corporates and valuation dispersion reinforces the case for mid-market deal activity.

GS Factor Profile

The Goldman Sachs Factor Profile provides investment context for a stock by comparing key attributes to the market (i.e. our universe of rated stocks) and its sector peers. The four key attributes depicted are: Growth, Financial Returns, Multiple (e.g. valuation) and Integrated (a composite of Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple). Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple are calculated by using normalized ranks for specific metrics for each stock. The normalized ranks for the metrics are then averaged and converted into percentiles for the relevant attribute. The precise calculation of each metric may vary depending on the fiscal year, industry and region, but the standard approach is as follows:

Growth is based on a stock's forward-looking sales growth, EBITDA growth and EPS growth (for financial stocks, only EPS and sales growth), with a higher percentile indicating a higher growth company. Financial Returns is based on a stock's forward-looking ROE, ROCE and CROCI (for financial stocks, only ROE), with a higher percentile indicating a company with higher financial returns. Multiple is based on a stock's forward-looking P/E, P/B, price/dividend (P/D), EV/EBITDA, EV/FCF and EV/Debt Adjusted Cash Flow (DAFCF) (for financial stocks, only P/E, P/B and P/D), with a higher percentile indicating a stock trading at a higher multiple. The Integrated percentile is calculated as the average of the Growth percentile, Financial Returns percentile and (100% - Multiple percentile).

Financial Returns and Multiple use the Goldman Sachs analyst forecasts at the fiscal year-end at least three quarters in the future. Growth uses inputs for the fiscal year at least seven quarters in the future compared with the year at least three quarters in the future (on a per-share basis for all metrics).

For a more detailed description of how we calculate the GS Factor Profile, please contact your GS representative.

M&A Rank

Across our global coverage, we examine stocks using an M&A framework, considering both qualitative factors and quantitative factors (which may vary across sectors and regions) to incorporate the potential that certain companies could be acquired. We then assign a M&A rank as a means of scoring companies under our rated coverage from 1 to 3, with 1 representing high (30%-50%) probability of the company becoming an acquisition target, 2 representing medium (15%-30%) probability and 3 representing low (0%-15%) probability. For companies ranked 1 or 2, in line with our standard departmental guidelines we incorporate an M&A component into our target price. M&A rank of 3 is considered immaterial and therefore does not factor into our price target, and may or may not be discussed in research.

Quantum is Goldman Sachs' proprietary database providing access to detailed financial statement histories, forecasts and ratios. It can be used for in-depth analysis of a single company, or to make comparisons between companies in different sectors and markets.

Ratings, coverage universe and related definitions

Buy (B), Neutral (N), Sell (S) Analysts recommend stocks as Buys or Sells for inclusion on various regional Investment Lists. Being assigned a Buy or Sell on an Investment List is determined by a stock's total return potential relative to its coverage universe. Any stock not assigned as a Buy or a Sell on an Investment List with an active rating (i.e., a stock that is not Rating Suspended, Not Rated, Early-Stage Biotech, Coverage Suspended or Not Covered), is deemed Neutral. Each region manages Regional Conviction Lists, which are selected from Buy rated stocks on the respective region's Investment Lists and represent investment recommendations focused on the size of the total return potential and/or the likelihood of the realization of the return across their respective areas of coverage. The addition or removal of stocks from such Conviction Lists are managed by the Investment Review Committee or other designated committee in each respective region and do not represent a change in the analysts' investment rating for such stocks.

Total return potential represents the upside or downside differential between the current share price and the price target, including all paid or anticipated dividends, expected during the time horizon associated with the price target. Price targets are required for all covered stocks. The total return potential, price target and associated time horizon are stated in each report adding or reiterating an Investment List membership.

Coverage Universe: A list of all stocks in each coverage universe is available by primary analyst, stock and coverage universe at <https://www.gs.com/research/hedge.html>.

Not Rated (NR). The investment rating, target price and earnings estimates (where relevant) are removed pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when Goldman Sachs is acting in an advisory capacity in a merger or in a strategic transaction involving this company, when there are legal, regulatory or policy constraints due to Goldman Sachs' involvement in a transaction, and in certain other circumstances. Early-Stage Biotech (ES). An investment rating and a target price are not assigned pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when this company has neither a drug, treatment or medical device that has passed a Phase II clinical trial nor a license to distribute a post-Phase II drug, treatment or medical device. Rating Suspended (RS). Goldman Sachs Research has suspended the investment rating and price target for this stock, because there is not a sufficient fundamental basis for determining an investment rating or target price. The previous investment rating and target price, if any, are no longer in effect for this stock and should not be relied upon. Coverage Suspended (CS). Goldman Sachs has suspended coverage of this company. Not Covered (NC). Goldman Sachs does not cover this company.
