America

- Samsung SDI to Build Dedicated Tesla ESS Battery Line in the US.- thelec.net Samsung SDI is establishing a dedicated lithium iron phosphate (LFP) battery production line for Tesla energy storage systems (ESS) at its StarPlus Energy (SPE) joint venture facility in Indiana, USA, which is operated with Stellantis. The plant is converting part of its EV battery production capacity to ESS manufacturing, with a 200Ah LFP cell line expected to begin production in late 2026 and a 300Ah LFP cell line, intended for Tesla ESS products, scheduled to start production in Q2 2027. Industry sources estimate Samsung SDI's battery supply agreement with Tesla could be worth KRW 3–5 trillion. The project marks Samsung SDI's first major battery supply program for Tesla and reflects growing demand for utility-scale energy storage systems, particularly in North America.
- SK On and Hyundai start battery cell production in Georgia.- electrive.com SK On and Hyundai Motor Group have started mass production of battery cells at their Hyundai-SK Battery Manufacturing America (HSBMA) joint venture in Georgia, USA. Backed by an investment of approximately USD 5 billion, the facility is expected to reach an annual production capacity of 35 GWh, enough to supply batteries for around 300,000 electric vehicles per year. The plant is already supplying Hyundai's new EV manufacturing facility in Savannah, Georgia, with battery cells that will be assembled into packs for Hyundai, Kia, and Genesis electric vehicles. The project strengthens Hyundai's localized North American battery supply chain and reinforces Georgia's position as a major hub for EV and battery manufacturing in the United States.
- LG Energy Solution likely to increase battery supply for Tesla.- electrive.com LG Energy Solution (LGES) is reportedly expanding cylindrical battery production at its Nanjing, China facility to meet rising demand from Tesla, particularly for the Model Y. The company is expected to bring two new production lines online in the second half of 2026, with additional expansions planned in later phases. Each line is estimated to add 2 GWh of annual capacity, potentially increasing total output into the double-digit GWh range. LGES is a key supplier of nickel-based batteries for Tesla's Model 3 and Model Y, with batteries from Nanjing primarily serving Tesla's Shanghai Gigafactory. The expansion reflects continued growth in Tesla vehicle sales and increasing demand for cylindrical battery cells in the EV market.
- Hyundai's \$5 Billion EV Battery Plant In Georgia Powers Up.- insideevs.com Hyundai Motor Group and SK On have begun production at their USD 5 billion Hyundai SK Battery Manufacturing America (HSBMA) facility in Georgia, USA, marking a major milestone in the localization of Hyundai's North American EV supply chain. The plant is expected to reach an annual production capacity of 35 GWh, enough to supply batteries for approximately 300,000 electric vehicles per year, and will provide battery cells for Hyundai's nearby Metaplant America in Savannah, where the Hyundai Ioniq 5, Ioniq 9, Kia EV6, and Kia EV9 are produced. The facility is expected to create around 3,500 jobs and strengthens Georgia's position as a key hub for EV and battery manufacturing, although the pace of future production expansion will depend on EV demand in the U.S. market.
- This Tesla Model 3 Battery Chemistry Ages Better Than The Rest.- insideevs.com A long-term analysis of Tesla Model 3 vehicles conducted in Sweden found that CATL's lithium iron phosphate (LFP) battery delivered the best capacity retention among four battery variants after approximately 62,000 miles (100,000 km) of driving. The CATL-supplied LFP pack retained 93.3% of its original capacity, outperforming batteries from LG Energy Solution (91.5%) and Panasonic (89.8% and 88.2%). The results reinforce the reputation of LFP batteries for superior durability, thermal stability, and resistance to degradation, although they typically offer lower energy density than nickel-based battery chemistries. The findings highlight the growing attractiveness of LFP technology for EV owners prioritizing long-term battery health and lower ownership costs.

- LG to power Google's biggest solar hub.-korea joongang daily LG Energy Solution (LGES) will supply battery systems for Google's largest solar-plus-storage project globally, the Steel River Energy Center in Arkansas, USA. Developed by Cypress Creek Energy, the project's first two phases will include 1.6 GW of solar generation and 1.9 GWh of battery storage, eventually expanding to 2.5 GW of solar capacity and 2.9 GWh of storage by 2029. LGES will provide its JF2 lithium iron phosphate (LFP) battery system, manufactured in North America, supporting growing electricity demand from AI data centers while meeting local supply-chain requirements. The project highlights the increasing role of large-scale battery storage in powering AI infrastructure and further strengthens LGES's position in the North American energy storage market.

Asia

- Huawei's \$11 Billion Clean Energy Empire Is Opening New Markets.- BNEF Huawei Digital Power, Huawei's clean-energy division, is rapidly expanding its global presence in battery energy storage, solar inverters, and EV charging infrastructure, with emerging markets such as Brazil becoming key growth areas. The company is supplying equipment for one of Latin America's largest battery storage projects on Brazil's Fernando de Noronha archipelago, helping reduce reliance on diesel-powered electricity. Huawei Digital Power generated more than USD 11 billion in revenue in 2025 and has become an increasingly important growth driver for Huawei amid ongoing restrictions on its telecommunications business. The company is also exploring further expansion opportunities in energy storage, EV charging, and renewable energy infrastructure as global investment in the energy transition continues to rise.
- LG Chem Begins Cathode Material Shipments to Toyota.- thelec.net LG Chem has started supplying cathode materials to Toyota Motor North America under a long-term agreement valued at KRW 2.86 trillion, with deliveries continuing through 2030. The cathode materials, produced using precursors from Korea Precursor Co. (KPC), support a non-China battery materials supply chain that complies with U.S. Inflation Reduction Act (IRA) requirements. The materials will be used in batteries produced at Toyota's North Carolina battery plant for hybrid and plug-in hybrid vehicles sold in the U.S. The supply agreement marks LG Chem's first major external cathode customer beyond LG Energy Solution and reflects the company's broader strategy to expand its advanced materials business while reducing reliance on petrochemicals.
- Samsung SDI Wins Largest Share of Korea's First AI Distribution Grid ESS Battery Project.- thelec.net Samsung SDI has secured the largest battery supply allocation in South Korea's first government-backed AI Distribution Grid Energy Storage System (ESS) program, winning orders for 420 MWh of battery capacity, equivalent to about 66% of the total awarded volume. The project is designed to relieve grid congestion and support the integration of renewable energy by deploying 640 MWh of ESS capacity across 32 distribution lines. Samsung SDI will supply batteries to six of the nine selected project operators, outperforming domestic rivals LG Energy Solution and SK On. The initiative is part of South Korea's broader plan to deploy 700 MW of ESS by 2030 and enable the connection of an additional 1 GW of renewable energy capacity, while showcasing the growing role of battery storage in grid modernization and AI-driven energy management.
- Samsung SDI's UPS batteries pass global fire-blocking test.-korea joongang daily Samsung SDI announced that its uninterruptible power supply (UPS) batteries for AI data centers have successfully passed a UL Solutions fire-blocking test, demonstrating the ability to contain a fire within a single battery module without spreading to adjacent racks. During the test, the battery module was intentionally ignited and allowed to burn completely, yet there was no fire propagation, gas venting, explosion, or rupture, and the fire extinguished itself without activating overhead sprinklers. Samsung SDI attributed the performance to its thermal propagation prevention technology and prismatic battery design using lithium manganese oxide (LMO) chemistry. The result strengthens the company's position in the growing AI data center power infrastructure market, where battery safety and reliability are becoming increasingly critical.
- Environmentally friendly cars account for half of new registrations in first half of year.-korea joongang daily Environmentally friendly vehicles, including battery electric vehicles (EVs), hybrids, and fuel-cell vehicles, accounted for a record 50.4% of all new vehicle registrations in South Korea during the first half of 2026. According to industry data, 429,163 eco-friendly vehicles were registered out of a total 851,833 new vehicles, marking the first time the segment has surpassed the 50% threshold. The growth was driven primarily by EV demand, with EV registrations rising 112.6% year-on-year to 198,969 units, supported by an expanding model lineup and government incentives. Meanwhile, gasoline-powered vehicles fell below 40% of new registrations for the first time in a decade, highlighting the accelerating transition toward electrified transportation in South Korea.
- Gaoneng Digital Manufacturing Launches Hybrid Wet-Dry Pilot Line for Solid-State Battery Development.- solare.com Chinese battery equipment company Gaoneng Digital Manufacturing has introduced a hybrid wet-dry pilot production line designed to accelerate the development of all-solid-state batteries following the implementation of China's first solid-state battery standard (GB/T 43568-2026). The flexible platform can switch between dry-process, wet-process, and hybrid manufacturing routes, allowing researchers to evaluate multiple solid-state battery technologies using a single production line. The company says the system helps reduce R&D costs, shorten development cycles, and improve process validation by combining in-house equipment with pre-validated process packages. Its modular design also enables future upgrades as projects scale from laboratory research to pilot production, supporting battery developers, material suppliers, and research institutions working on next-generation solid-state battery technologies.

- Gotion High-Tech Secures More Than 10 GWh of Battery Orders From SANY Group.- solare.com Gotion High-Tech and Chinese construction equipment giant SANY Group have signed a strategic cooperation agreement covering more than 10 GWh of power battery orders through 2027, targeting the rapidly growing new energy heavy-duty truck and construction machinery market. The partnership will focus on battery supply for electric trucks, loaders, and other industrial vehicles, while also exploring technologies including CTB (Cell-to-Body) battery integration, lithium manganese iron phosphate (LMFP) batteries, and integrated mobile charging, storage, and battery-swapping solutions. The agreement strengthens Gotion's position in the commercial vehicle battery sector and supports the accelerating electrification of heavy-duty transportation and construction equipment in China.
- Taoke New Energy Connects Grid-Scale Energy Storage Project in Gifu, Japan.- solare.com Shanghai Taoke New Energy Technology Co., Ltd. (Taoke New Energy) has successfully connected its 2 MW / 8.14 MWh grid-side battery energy storage system (BESS) in Kakamigahara City, Gifu Prefecture, Japan, to the grid. The project, commissioned on July 7, 2026, is expected to participate in Japan's primary frequency regulation market later this year, marking an important step in Taoke's overseas energy storage asset operations strategy. The company highlighted its ability to navigate Japan's complex permitting, certification, and grid-connection processes, and expects to bring three additional self-developed storage projects online in Japan within the same month. Taoke aims to leverage its experience in project development, construction, and operations to expand its energy storage business across Japan, China, and Southeast Asia.
- Solid-State Battery Manufacturing Base Project Launched in Changzhou.- solare.com A CNY 550 million (USD ~76 million) Solid-State Battery Intelligent Manufacturing Assembly Base has been announced in Changzhou, Jiangsu Province, China. The project will be developed by Gaoneng Digital Manufacturing (Xi'an) Technology Co., Ltd., a company specializing in solid-state battery production equipment and dry-electrode manufacturing technologies. The facility will integrate component manufacturing, equipment assembly, production-line commissioning, material testing, and R&D operations, supporting the development of next-generation battery production systems. Originating from technologies developed by Xi'an Jiaotong University's Institute of Materials and Chemical Engineering, Gaoneng has supplied pilot and demonstration solid-state battery production lines to major industry players including CATL, Sunwoda, and Dongfeng Motor. The project further strengthens Changzhou's position as a key hub for advanced battery manufacturing and solid-state battery commercialization in China.
- Envision AESC Launches World's First 100+ GWh Energy Storage Manufacturing Hub.- solare.com Envision AESC has officially commissioned its Yichang Super Factory in Hubei, China, creating what the company describes as the world's first 100+ GWh energy storage manufacturing base spanning the entire value chain from battery cells to system integration. The facility's first product is a 790 Ah energy storage cell, currently the world's largest prismatic wound battery cell, offering 440 Wh/L energy density, more than 12,000 charge-discharge cycles, and 96% round-trip efficiency. The first shipments have already been exported to Germany, with over 50% of the plant's capacity secured by overseas orders. The launch underscores Envision AESC's growing global presence in energy storage, supported by a network of 14 battery gigafactories across China, Japan, the United States, the United Kingdom, France, and Spain, and more than 100 GWh of cumulative energy storage cell deliveries worldwide.

Europe

- Spain Extends Welcome Mat for Chinese Carmakers to Its Workers.- BNEF Spain is strengthening its support for Chinese automotive investment, positioning itself as a key European manufacturing hub for electric vehicles and batteries. A government report highlights three major China-linked industrial projects, including the €4.1 billion CATL–Stellantis battery plant, which is expected to create more than 4,000 direct jobs and will initially rely on Chinese workers during the construction phase through 2028. The report also covers partnerships involving Chery–Ebro Motors and BAIC–Santana Motors, which together are expected to generate nearly 6,000 direct jobs. Spain's strategy is to attract Chinese technology and investment while gradually developing local suppliers and manufacturing capabilities to support the European EV transition, although key technologies will remain licensed rather than fully transferred to Spanish ownership.
- Zelestra Signs Output Deal for Italian Battery Storage Facility.- BNEF Spanish renewable energy developer Zelestra has signed an energy storage offtake agreement with German utility EnBW (Energie Baden-Württemberg) for a planned 500 MW / 2 GWh battery energy storage facility in Emilia-Romagna, Italy. Under the agreement, EnBW will utilize the remaining 60% of the project's capacity, following an earlier deal covering the other 40%. The project is expected to begin construction in 2027 and enter operation by late 2028. According to Zelestra, the agreement represents the largest publicly announced battery storage tolling agreement in continental Europe, highlighting growing demand for grid-scale energy storage as renewable energy deployment and AI-driven electricity demand continue to increase across Europe.
- Spain's Naturgy to Build \$344 Million Australia Renewables Plant.- BNEF Spanish utility Naturgy Energy Group will invest more than €300 million (USD 344 million) through its Australian subsidiary Global Power Generation (GPG) to develop its largest renewable energy project in Australia. The Fraser Coast project in Queensland will combine 330 MW of solar generation with 180 MW of battery energy storage, creating a hybrid renewable energy facility designed to improve grid reliability and maximize renewable energy utilization. The project has secured a 10-year power purchase agreement (PPA) and is expected to begin operations in 2028. The investment strengthens Naturgy's renewable energy portfolio in Australia and highlights the growing role of integrated solar-plus-storage projects in supporting the energy transition.

- VW Boosts Affordable EV Lineup as Buyers Battle High Fuel Prices.- BNEF Volkswagen has unveiled the ID. Cross, a new compact electric SUV priced from around €28,000, as part of its strategy to expand its affordable EV lineup in Europe. Built in Spain, the model will compete with low-cost electric vehicles from brands such as BYD, offering a driving range of up to 430 km and charging capability that can replenish the battery to nearly full in 23 minutes. The launch comes amid rising EV adoption in Europe, supported by government incentives and high fuel prices, while Chinese automakers continue to gain market share. The ID. Cross strengthens Volkswagen's portfolio of entry-level electric vehicles and underscores the company's efforts to defend its leadership position in Europe against increasing competition from Chinese EV manufacturers.
- EU Plans 2040 Electrification Target to Cut Oil, Gas Consumption.- BNEF The European Union is preparing to introduce a 2040 electrification target as part of its long-term energy and climate strategy, aiming to accelerate the shift from fossil fuels to clean electricity. The proposed goal, expected to be incorporated into a post-2030 energy framework, is designed to strengthen Europe's clean technology industries, improve energy security, and reduce reliance on imported oil and gas. The European Commission estimates that faster electrification could replace two-thirds of the EU's gas demand and cut oil consumption by half by 2040, while reducing fossil fuel import costs by around €200 billion. The initiative will also support wider deployment of electric vehicles, charging infrastructure, heat pumps, renewable energy, and grid modernization, reinforcing Europe's broader decarbonization objectives.
- Generational brings EV battery testing to 6,000 UK workshops.- electrive.com Generational has partnered with Maverick Diagnostics to expand EV battery health testing across approximately 6,000 workshops in the United Kingdom, making battery diagnostics more accessible to EV owners and used-car buyers. Under the agreement, Generational will provide its battery testing technology and software platform, while Maverick will support distribution, training, and workshop adoption. The system connects to a vehicle's OBD port to generate a battery State of Health (SoH) report, giving customers a clear assessment of battery condition and remaining capacity. The initiative aims to improve transparency in the growing used-EV market and help make battery health checks a routine part of EV ownership and maintenance.
- Clean Motion trials battery swapping for solar delivery vans.- electrive.com Swedish EV manufacturer Clean Motion has launched real-world trials of its lightweight electric vehicle, EVIG, equipped with swappable batteries in Stockholm. The project uses battery-swapping infrastructure from Swedish provider GoCimo and is being tested in urban delivery operations with Foodora. Originally designed for electric scooters, GoCimo's battery-swapping network is now being expanded to support light commercial vehicles. The EVIG offers a driving range of 100–150 km, with integrated solar panels providing an additional 40–50 km of daily range under favorable conditions. The trial aims to evaluate whether a shared battery-swapping ecosystem can improve vehicle utilization, eliminate charging downtime, and support sustainable urban logistics.
- CATL to bring sodium battery storage to Europe with 5 GWh Alfen deal.- cnevpost.com CATL has signed an agreement with Dutch energy solutions provider Alfen to deploy 5 GWh of its new Tener Sodium sodium-ion battery energy storage systems across the Netherlands and Western Europe beginning in 2027. The project represents the first planned European deployment of CATL's sodium-ion ESS technology, which offers a 25-year lifespan and improved efficiency while reducing dependence on lithium-based battery materials. Through the partnership, CATL aims to accelerate the commercialization of sodium-ion energy storage in Europe, support grid decarbonization efforts, and provide utilities with a more diversified battery technology option alongside conventional lithium iron phosphate (LFP) systems.
- BMW Recalls 30,000 PHEVs, Tells Owners To Park Outside—But It's Not Because Of The Battery- insideevs.com BMW is recalling nearly 29,000 plug-in hybrid vehicles (PHEVs) in the United States due to a potential fire risk caused by a faulty starter motor, not the high-voltage battery system. The issue affects certain BMW 330e, 530e, and 740Le models, where water intrusion can lead to corrosion inside the starter relay, potentially causing a short circuit, overheating, and, in rare cases, a fire. As a precaution, BMW has advised owners to park affected vehicles outdoors until repairs are completed. The company will replace the starter motor free of charge and stated that no accidents or injuries related to the issue have been reported.

- Spiro Bets on Battery Swapping in Africa Backed by Chinese Investor, Founder Says.- yicai.com Spiro, Africa's largest electric two-wheeler and battery-swapping company, plans to accelerate the expansion of its battery-swapping infrastructure across the continent following a USD 270 million funding round, including USD 55 million from Chinese investment firm NewTrails Capital. The company currently operates more than 2,500 battery-swapping stations across seven African countries, supporting over 100,000 electric motorcycles and processing approximately 100,000 battery swaps per day. Spiro is leveraging partnerships with Chinese battery and supply-chain companies while increasing local manufacturing and renewable energy integration, including solar-powered swapping stations. The company sees significant growth potential for electric mobility in Africa and expects electric motorcycles to account for 50–60% of new motorcycle sales in its key markets within the next two years.

RATINGS DEFINITIONS, BENCHMARKS AND DISTRIBUTIONEQUITY RATINGS DEFINITIONS*Bernstein brand

The Bernstein brand rates stocks based on forecasts of relative performance for the next 12 months versus the S&P 500 for stocks listed on the U.S. and Canadian exchanges, versus the Bloomberg Europe Developed Markets Large and Mid Cap Price Return Index EUR (EDME) for stocks listed on the European exchanges and emerging markets exchanges outside of the Asia Pacific region, versus the Bloomberg Japan Large and Mid Cap Price Return Index USD (JPL) for stocks listed on the Japanese exchanges, and versus the Bloomberg Asia ex-Japan Large and Mid Cap Price Return Index (ASIA) for stocks listed on the Asian (ex-Japan) exchanges -unless otherwise specified.

The Bernstein brand has three categories of ratings:

- Outperform: Stock will outpace the market index by more than 15 pp
- Market-Perform: Stock will perform in line with the market index to within +/- 15 pp
- Underperform: Stock will trail the performance of the market index by more than 15 pp

Coverage Suspended: Coverage of a company under the Bernstein research brand has been suspended. Ratings and price targets are suspended temporarily, are no longer current, and should therefore not be relied upon.

Not Rated: A rating assigned when the stock cannot be accurately valued, or the performance of the company accurately predicted, at the present time. The covering analyst may continue to publish research reports on the company to update investors on events and developments.

Not Covered (NC) denotes companies that are not under coverage.

Bernstein brand stock ratings are based on a 12-month time horizon.

Autonomous brand – common stocks

The Autonomous brand rates common stocks as indicated below. As our benchmarks we use the Bloomberg Europe 600 Financials Price Return Index (E600BK) and Bloomberg Europe Dev Mkt Financials Large and Mid Cap Price Ret Index EUR (EDMFI) index for developed European banks and Payments, the Bloomberg Europe 600 Insurance Price Return Index (E600IN) for European insurers, the S&P 500 and S&P Financials for US banks and Payments coverage, S5LIFE for US Insurance, the S&P Insurance Select Industry (SPSIINS) for US Non-Life Insurers coverage, and the Bloomberg Emerging Markets Financials Large, Mid and Small Cap Price Return Index (EMLSF) for emerging market banks and insurers and Payments. Ratings are stated relative to the sector (not the market).

The Autonomous brand has three categories of common stock ratings:

- Outperform (OP): Stock will outpace the relevant index by more than 10 pp
- Neutral (N): Stock will perform in line with the market index to within +/-10 pp
- Underperform (UP): Stock will trail the performance of the relevant index by more than 10 pp

Coverage Suspended: Coverage of a company under the Autonomous research brand has been suspended. Ratings and price targets are suspended temporarily, are no longer current, and should therefore not be relied upon.

Not Rated: A rating assigned when the stock cannot be accurately valued, or the performance of the company accurately predicted, at the present time. The covering analyst may continue to publish research reports on the company to update investors on events and developments.

Those denoted as 'Feature' (e.g., Feature Outperform FOP, Feature Under Outperform FUP) are our core ideas.

Not Covered (NC) denotes companies that are not under coverage.

Autonomous brand common stock ratings are based on a 12-month time horizon.

Autonomous brand – preferred stocks

The Autonomous brand has three categories of preferred stock ratings:

- Outperform (OP): The total return of the preferred instrument is expected to outperform preferred securities of other issuers operating in similar sectors or rating categories over the next six months.
- Neutral (N): The total return of the preferred instrument is expected to perform in line with preferred securities of other issuers operating in similar sectors or rating categories over the next six months.
- Underperform (UP): The total return of the preferred instrument is expected to underperform preferred securities of other issuers operating in similar sectors or rating categories over the next six months.

Autonomous preferred stock ratings are based on a 6-month time horizon.
