Global Auto Monitor:
Electrification and the Next
Vehicle Cycle

Autonomy, electrification, and software-defined architectures continue to reshape the auto industry. Tesla crossing 10bn FSD miles this week highlights its lead in personal autonomy, while new China EV launches in 2Q increase global competition for share.

What Others Are Reading - Our Most Read Reports

[NORTH AMERICA] Wiring the Vehicle, Powering the Intelligence; Initiate VGNT at OW, Upgrade APTV to OW (7 May 2026) We see autonomy, electrification, and the software-defined vehicle as durable, long-term growth drivers that continue to increase content and the value of electrical architectures, while adjacent opportunities beyond auto provide an increasingly important growth lever for VGNT and APTV.

[NORTH AMERICA] BorgWarner Inc: Mobility to Megawatts (7 May 2026) BWA is doubling down on distributed power with a new ESS and microgrid inverter, following the launch of its turbine product last quarter. We evaluate growth and unit economics for these products, but emphasize that customer validation through backlog growth will be key to support valuation upside.

[NORTH AMERICA] Lucid Group Inc: 1Q26 Earnings: Holding Pattern Until 2Q Guidance Update (6 May 2026) 1Q26 results were hindered by a supplier quality issue, resulting in a 29-day stop-sale. That said, the company is suspending guidance until its incoming CEO has sufficient time to review the outlook. We expect the stock to remain under pressure until said update.

[NORTH AMERICA] 1Q26 Auto Dealer Scorecard: Back on Track (7 May 2026) While resolution in ME conflict at the margin can drive NT upside to auto retail stocks, investors are likely to wait for more supportive auto data. Post 1Q, we are increasingly convinced in SG&A leverage, uplift from Service profit, and strategic capital allocation. Reit OW AN, GPI, PAG.

[NORTH AMERICA] Magna International: 1Q26 Results: Margins Hold Despite Lower Volume Outlook (3 May 2026) 1Q results came in ahead of expectations on strong execution, margin expansion, and favorable timing of recoveries. Lowered 2026 sales outlook on weaker production assumptions and divestitures, but reaffirmed margin, EPS, and FCF guidance, shifting focus to the 2H EBIT ramp & buyback execution.

[NORTH AMERICA] Lear Corporation: 1Q26 Results: Taking the Driver's Seat on Execution (3 May 2026) 1Q results came in ahead of expectations, driven by strong operational execution and favorable FX. 2026 guidance was reiterated, but embeds a healthy level of conservatism given the elevated level of uncertainty still at play. Increase price target to $130 (5.0x 2026 EBITDA). [GLOBAL] Global EV Tracker: Global EVs Back in Gear (7 May 2026) March global EV sales grew 9% y/y (82% m/m) to 1.32m. Tesla maintains the global lead (14% BEV share), though BYD closes the gap (12% vs. 11% LM). Europe BEV sales drive rebound (+41% y/y) and China achieves 20%+ penetration for the first time in 2026 (25.9% vs. 18.0% LM).

[NORTH AMERICA] April US Auto Sales: SAAR In-Line with a Shift Toward Hybrids (3 May 2026) US Auto SAAR was 16.1m in April, down 6% Y/Y on a tough comp following an elevated Apr-2025 from tariff-driven demand pull-forward. Hybrids pull ahead against a backdrop of rising gas prices. Days supply rose to 51 vs. 48 in March. Incentives -4% M/M and +4% Y/Y.

[NORTH AMERICA] Used Car Prices: Easing off the Gas After a Strong Start of the Year (8 May 2026) The seasonally adj. Manheim index for April is down 1.6% MoM and up 1.8% YoY as higher gas prices weigh on consumer wallets. Wholesale prices were buoyed by strength in EV (+7%) and luxury (+2%) segments, keeping used-vehicle values above long-term norms.

[EUROPE] Europe-5 April Auto Sales: Market keeps growing, MBG now gaining share (7 May 2026) April volume up +7% (adjusted by selling days), driven again by UK (leading), Italy, Spain and Germany, and now falling in France. MBG finally gaining share; Stellantis, VW and Renault share down YoY, but all up MoM.

[EUROPE] EU-US Trade Deal: back to 25% Auto Tariffs? (5 May 2026) An increase in US-EU tariffs, back to 25%, would add additional pressure to already depressed margins, return and cash generation estimates, impacting all German OEMs, particularly P911. With potential for an escalation in the Middle East, we see fresh risk to FY26 guidance.

[EUROPE] April ACT Class 8 Orders: +201% YoY on easy comps... but order SAAR starting to normalise (5 May 2026) April ACT Class 8 orders came in at 24.8k units, +201% YoY, -24% MoM. Orders continue to rise YoY on easy comps, but the margin by which expectations are beat is declining. We think the outlook for truck demand remains solid for now, but we look for freight volume growth as the final confirmation.

[EUROPE] BMW: 1Q26: lower margins, better FCF (6 May 2026) Revenue and margins slightly below market expectations due to FS and Others, while Autos and Motorcycles margins came above expectations. One more time, lower investments reflected in better than expected Ind. FCF. Guidance maintained, all compatible with high-single-digit yield to shareholders.

[KOREA] S. Korea Autos, Batteries and Energy & Materials (7 May 2026)

[KOREA] April 2026 Volumes: HMC -8.0% YoY, Kia +1.0% YoY (4 May 2026) HMC and Kia showed diverging trends (-8.0% YoY vs. +1.0% YoY), as Kia benefited from new model momentum, while HMC faced supplier disruptions and recalls.

[KOREA] Hankook Tire & Technology Co Ltd: 1Q26: Solid Print (8 May 2026) We recommend investors to overlook near-term margin pressure and focus on HT's strong execution and improving shareholder return profile. Also, at 5.8x 2026e P/E, we continue to see an attractive risk/reward profile and remain OW.

[INDIA] Bajaj Auto Ltd: F4Q26 - Impressive Quarter, Bullish on Exports (6 May 2026) Bajaj's EBITDA beat MSe and BBG consensus estimates by 4-7%.

AUTOS & SHARED MOBILITY

North America

Industry View

In-Line

The export outlook remains strong, and currency tailwinds and calibrated price hikes are helping offset commodity cost pressures. F27 core P/E of ~25x vs. 5Y and 10Y medians of 22x and 19x, respectively, keeps us UW.

[INDIA] Bharat Forge: 50% Defence Revenue Growth in F2027; Overseas Subs Losses to Remain; OW (8 May 2026) BHFC EBITDA was 3% below MSe; overseas restructuring has been pushed out thus we cut F2027e EPS but keep OW as revenue growth across its autos and non-auto is best in our coverage. The stock trades at F2028e P/E of 40x; Auto supplier average stands at ~35x while Industrial peers trade at ~54x.

[INDIA] Mahindra & Mahindra: Stronger-than-expected F27 Volume Outlook, Supportive Valuations; OW (6 May 2026) M&M aims to be among the fastest growing listed PV OEMs in F27, and its strong product portfolio places it well to manage cost headwinds. Our F27 volumes estimate remains below management's target. Core auto P/E stands at 19x F27e, vs. 24x for MSIL and 29x for Hyundai India.

[JAPAN] US Sales of Japan OEMs (Apr 2026): Another Month of Growth in the HEV Ratio (6 May 2026) The 5% YoY fall in Toyota sales volume matched pace with the market in a firm undertone considering effects of the RAV4 model change.

[CHINA] China Autos & Shared Mobility: Autos Overview (8 May 2026)

[CHINA] China EVs – 1Q26 Preview (4 May 2026) We expect major EV startups to turn loss-making in 1Q due to inferior scale and operational de-leverage aggravated by rising R&D spending. As soft 1Q results are well anticipated, a 2Q operational resurgence is now under strict scrutiny, hinging on holiday traffic/order flow and major launches.

[CHINA] Implications from 1Q26 Results (5 May 2026) We look for revenue upside but margin downside for parts suppliers in 2026, as they finalize price hike negotiations with OEM customers in 2Q-3Q26, but also accumulate high-cost inventories. Investor focus is back to fundamentals, where growth hinges on exports and product upgrades.

[CHINA] Ningbo Huaxiang Electronic Co., Ltd.: Progress, restructuring and new initiatives likely in the price (5 May 2026) Huaxiang continued to improve its domestic business amid industry competition, while optimizing overseas businesses. The robotic business presents significant opportunities and uncertainties. We move to EW given notable share price outperformance since 2025 and a reasonable valuation.

Global picks: General Motors, Carvana, Mercedes-Benz Group AG, Daimler Truck Holding AG, Suzuki Motor are our preferred stocks from major regions.

Our global industry views: Our view on India auto is Attractive. We have In-Line views on the North America, Europe, China, Japan, and South Korea industries.
