Solid Trading in Europe, Middle East Stabilization, and Incremental World Cup Revenues - A Setup for Further Upgrades; Placing on Positive Catalyst Watch into Q2 results.

We are bullish into Q2 results for JCDecaux given solid trading in Europe, better than feared trends in the Middle East, incremental World Cup revenues and ongoing margin improvement that confirms the turn-around story. As we outlined in our March 2026 deep-dive on the European Outdoor advertising market, with a corresponding upgrade of the subsector ("It's about time", here), we believe the sector is at an inflection point, with multiple structural tailwinds continuing to build (see below) as Outdoor takes share within the advertising mix, supported by the ongoing digitisation of billboards. While the shares have outperformed YTD (+38% versus CAC40 +3%), investor sentiment and near-term advertising momentum have softened somewhat in recent months, largely reflecting geopolitical developments that weighed on passenger volumes, in particular in the Middle East (5% of revenues for JCD). However, the key advertising data points appear to be stabilizing and trending incrementally better, suggesting the demand backdrop is improving. We preview our JCDecaux estimates ahead of Q226 results (due July 30th) and overall, we anticipate a solid performance in the quarter with the company likely to over-achieve guidance for c.3% organic growth (JPMe +3.4%, VA Cons +3.2%), driven in particular by Street Furniture and Transport helped by incremental World Cup revenues (spread across Q2 & Q3). Our H1 operating margin estimate of €329m stands about 3% above consensus estimates, likely triggering further upgrades and as such we place the name on Positive Catalyst Watch. Next to better than expected Q2 results, we expect continued trading momentum also into Q3, and anticipate Q3 guidance on the day for well above 5% organic growth in Q3 (JPMe 5.7% vs VA Cons 4.9%). We continue to see the shares as undervalued with Decaux likely to approach €400m in FCF in the next few years versus a current market cap of €4.5bn and reiterate our OW rating on the name.

- Q226 Expectations - we are 3% ahead on operating margin; placing the name on Positive Catalyst Watch. We expect a strong performance across most geographies with less negative impact from the Middle East than previously expected, though we expect China to be slightly negative – after returning to growth in Q1 – on weak consumption levels. We expect group organic revenue growth of +3.4% (vs VA Consensus +3.2%) – slightly ahead of company guidance for organic growth of c.3% – with strong performance across Street Furniture (+5.4%) and Transport (+2.0%) also driven by incremental World Cup revenues. We expect better than expected trading in the Middle East (which represents c.5% of revenues) as well as DDG growth in the US and UK which should both drive positive sentiment, though this will be slightly offset by China. We also anticipate strong execution on costs with an H126 operating profit margin of €329m (17.0% margin), 3% above VA consensus estimates of €320m (16.6% margin).
- Changes in Estimates. We increase our Group Sales estimates by 1%/1% in FY26/FY27 on slightly higher growth expectations in Transport. As such, our operating profit margins increase by 1%/1% in FY26/FY27. Our price target

Summary Investment Thesis and Valuation

Investment Thesis

After 4 years of being Neutral/Underweight on JCDecaux, we recently left behind (here) our cautious view as we see a clear inflection: 1) Digital now reached close to 50% of revenues in 2025, becoming a key driver behind improving margins, turning for the first time in years; 2) FCF dynamics are improving quickly as management finally executes well on working capital and capex (for screens) now beyond peak; 3) the advertising backdrop is improving across most regions, particularly in China; 4) recent contract wins in Stockholm, Denver and Barcelona as well as the retail contract with Carrefour/Carmila in France add revenue visibility for 2026 and 5) JCDecaux's programmatic platform continues to scale.

Valuation

We set a DCF-based Dec-27 PT of €30 (previously €29). We assume a WACC of 9.5% and Terminal Growth rate of 2.0%.

- Investment Thesis. After 4 years of being Neutral/Underweight on JCDecaux, earlier this year we left behind (here) our cautious view in our deep dive on the name as we now see a clear inflection: 1) Digital now reached close to 50% of revenues in 2025, becoming a key driver behind improving margins, turning for the first time in years; 2) FCF dynamics are improving quickly as management finally executes well on working capital and capex (for screens) now beyond peak; 3) the advertising backdrop is improving across most regions, particularly in China; 4) recent contract wins in Stockholm, Denver (now slightly delayed to 2026) and Barcelona as well as the retail contract with Carrefour/Carmila in France add revenue visibility for 2026 and 5) JCDecaux's programmatic platform continues to scale. The investment case clearly has momentum and we see room for upgrades in H2.

Company Description

JCDecaux is the number one Outdoor advertising company worldwide, with a more than 1.1m advertising panels in over 79 countries and overall revenues of €3,967m in 2025. The company is able to replicate its business model globally and holds a diversified geographic portfolio with Europe accounting for about 58% of revenues and Emerging Markets contributing about 35%, while North America takes a relatively low share of 8%. Revenues are driven by both organic growth and ongoing bolt-on acquisitions. We see a strong growth opportunity arising from digital billboards, particularly in the company's Street Furniture and Transport divisions.

Types of revenues: JCDecaux operates in three different business segments: 1) Street Furniture (Street Furniture and self-service bicycles); 2) Transport (advertising in airports, train stations, etc.); and 3) Billboard (print and digital billboard advertising). Other outdoor advertising activities, such as advertising on shopping trolleys or in petrol stations, are relatively small in the group context.

A strong market leader and key consolidator: JCDecaux is globally the largest outdoor advertiser and a strong market leader in most geographies with the exception of the US market.

JCDecaux - momentum is turning; we see several positives at (still) highly attractive valuation

1) Digital share is improving rapidly in the portfolio and margins are moving back above 2019 pre-Covid levels as a result

The mix in JCDecaux is quickly improving, with digital revenues approaching the 50% threshold (Q425 was 44.8%, though Q126 was 41.7%). This rising digital share supports materially stronger yield (often 2–4x analog on our estimates), while tight cost discipline drives incremental margin expansion. In 2025, digital grew 10.0% versus group growth of 1.8%, underscoring that the company's growth engine is increasingly digital and, importantly, programmatic. Management reiterated that digital has compounded organically at 16% historically and continues to expand at a double-digit pace, while programmatic is scaling at roughly 2x digital growth and now represents a little over 10% of digital sales. The acceleration of programmatic broadens demand and enhances monetization across the digital estate, adding a new growth cylinder that structurally improves pricing power, mix, and profitability.

2) Free cash flow metrics are (finally) improving quickly, leading to more attractive payouts

Given the active margin and working capital focus, FCF continues to grow strongly. We anticipate FCF of €391m to be achieved in 2028, leading to a FCF yield of 8.7% that year. We also see scope for further dividend improvements and attractive dividend yields of 4.5% by 2028.

3) Advertising momentum remains solid with China turning back to growth after years of declines and limited exposure to the Middle East

JCDecaux's country mix is widely split, de-risking the portfolio when it comes to downturns. We note that the business sees several tail-winds from new contract wins while ad trends remain still pretty solid.

- Importantly, China, JCDecaux's problem market in the past few years, has been turning back to growth. JCDecaux attributes China's Q1 2026 return to growth to three factors. First, the ongoing digitization across Chinese airports and metro networks is lifting the revenue profile by expanding higher-yield digital inventory. Second, advertiser sentiment has improved in select categories, with a notable surge from large tech platforms actively using JCDecaux's formats to promote brands and solutions across environments. Third, the Chinese New Year generated record travel volumes in Q126, boosting audience reach and campaign activity. Management emphasized that these elements collectively supported Q1 performance. However, the company has recently signalled a slightly negative performance in Q226 with weaker consumption levels in the country.
- Middle-Eastern exposure appears manageable and has shown signs of stablization. On the recent conference call (FY25 results), management highlighted that the Middle East accounts for "a bit under 5% of group revenue and is reported within Rest of the World". Decaux's exposure is primarily airport advertising, with the largest footprint in Dubai/Abu Dhabi and a smaller footprint in Saudi Arabia as well as, street furniture in Qatar and Oman. Management emphasized that risk intensity varies by country, citing “Saudi Arabia and Oman as less exposed, while Abu Dhabi is more exposed than Dubai, and Bahrain is also exposed”. That said, JCDecaux management cautioned that continued or intensifying conflict could affect the business. Mitigation would involve three-party discussions with clients and airport partners to adjust and manage exposure. Operationally, the business is at this point functioning normally, though local teams are working remotely for security reasons. The key swing factor is the duration and potential escalation of the conflict. We note that the profit exposure is likely to be higher as Transport is generating the highest margins in the group. More recently, the company has highlighted while there has been a negative impact on Middle East revenues, the impact is better than had been previously expected. We also highlight air travel industry data (see below) that indicates a gradual recovery in MENA outbound air travel.

A deep dive into the building blocks to 2026 underline strong momentum in Decaux's business

We revisit our deep-dive bottom-up approach and outline the building blocks to our expectations for JCDecaux's reported revenue and operating profit in FY26, where we see several tailwinds from a net contract win perspective, offsetting some contract losses in Asia, as well as incremental revenues from the year's sporting events. All in all, we forecast FY26 Group revenue growth of +6.2% (+5.4% organic) to JPMe €4,212m with FY26E operating profit of €897m (21.3% margin).

Street Furniture – strong organic growth supported by new contracts and sporting events

We forecast +7.9% reported revenue growth for FY26, driven by c.+7% core organic growth and positive tailwinds from sporting events as well as key contract wins (Barcelona and Carrefour/Carmila). All in, we model JPMe €2,173m FY26E revenue and operating profit of €597m (27.5% margin).

- Key Sporting Events - World Cup: Management had guided towards €30m in incremental advertising spend as a result of the 2026 World Cup (Q226-Q326) to be hosted in the US, Canada and Mexico. We anticipate that c.40% of revenues from the World Cup will fall within Street Furniture. As this is incremental revenue, we anticipate better margins on the contributions from the World Cup.
- Key Sporting Events - Winter Olympics: We also note incremental Street

Furniture revenue from the Milano Cortina Winter Olympics (Q126), which we estimate to be c.€4m. Similarly to the World Cup, we expect a margin improvement on the incremental revenue.

- Key Contract Win - Barcelona: In October 2025, JCDecaux announced that it won the exclusive 10-year advertising contract for Barcelona's bus shelters and city information panels (CIPs). Through the contract, 300 new digital screens will be installed throughout the city and a programmatic offer will soon be activated. The contract went into effect in March 2026 and we assume a c.€8m revenue uplift in FY26 at a below average margin given it is the first year of the contract.
- Key Contract Win - Carrefour / Carmila: In December 2025, JCDecaux announced a strategic partnership with Carrefour, Carmila and Unlimitail to develop OOH in and around shopping centres in France and in Spain. Given the time necessary to build the new inventory, we do not expect the partnership to begin generating revenues in France until September 2026 (Spain will come in 2027) and as such we expect a c.€2m revenue uplift at a below average margin for FY26.

Billboard – focus on organic

We forecast +0.7% reported revenue growth for FY26, driven by c.1% core organic growth with no new contracts or M&A impacts. All in, we model JPMe €537m FY26 revenue and operating profit of €96m (17.8% margin).

Transport – new contract wins marginally offset by non-renewals, though World Cup a headwind

We forecast +5.7% revenue growth for FY26, driven by c.5% core organic growth, tailwinds from sporting events and net contracts wins as an incremental tailwind – as a new win in Stockholm (Denver airport win now pushed to 2027) helps offset the non-renewal of the Danish Rail and Hong Kong Citybus contract. All in, we model JPMe €1,502m FY26 revenue and operating profit of €204m (13.6% margin).

- Key Sporting Event - World Cup: As previously stated, the company has signalled a €30m incremental advertising spend as a result of the 2026 World Cup (Q226-Q326) to be hosted in the US, Canada and Mexico. We anticipate that the remaining c.60% of revenues will fall within Transport (as we estimate that the other 40% is recorded in Street Furniture). Similarly, we expect better margins given this is incremental revenue.
- Key Contract Losses - Hong Kong Citybus and Danish Rail: During JCDecaux's FY25 results, management confirmed that the company had not renewed its Hong Kong Citybus and Danish Rail contracts, which we estimate accounted for a combined €20m in revenue at average operating margins. The Danish Rail contract was lost to Bauer Media, who had acquired Clear Channel's North-Europe assets and management notes that the winning bid was made on sensible terms.
- Key Contact Win - Stockholm Bus & Metro: In September 2024, JCDecaux announced that it had been awarded the 7-year Stockholm bus shelter and subway station advertising contracts. The contract was initially expected to begin in January 2026; however, following delays, we estimate that the bus component of the contract began in February and the Metro component in May. Overall, we anticipate a €15m revenue uplift in FY26 at a below average operating margin.
- Key Contact Win - Denver Airport - now pushed to 2027: In March 2026, JCDecaux announced that it had won a 10-year advertising contract for Denver International Airport. While originally the contract was expected to go into effect in May 2026, it has now been delayed to 2027. We expect a c.€20m revenue uplift in FY27 at below average margins given it will the first year of the contract.

Upcoming Tenders

In the company's FY25 presentation, management outlined the upcoming main tenders that will impact revenues going forward. Management called out the most significant contracts as Klépierre (retail), Transport for Greater Manchester, Hamburg, Dusseldorf, Washington and Vancouver for Street Furniture. For Transport, management noted opportunities in several US airports where JCDecaux is not currently an incumbent (such as Chicago, San Francisco and Phoenix).

Since the results, the company has also confirmed that it renewed its Heathrow Airport contract for 8 years and won the long-term contract for the new Western Sydney International Airport in Australia.

Investment Thesis, Valuation and Risks

JCDecaux (Overweight; Price Target: €30.00)

Investment Thesis

After 4 years of being Neutral/Underweight on JCDecaux, we recently left behind (here) our cautious view as we see a clear inflection: 1) Digital now reached close to 50% of revenues in 2025, becoming a key driver behind improving margins, turning for the first time in years; 2) FCF dynamics are improving quickly as management finally executes well on working capital and capex (for screens) now beyond peak; 3) the advertising backdrop is improving across most regions, particularly in China; 4) recent contract wins in Stockholm, Denver and Barcelona as well as the retail contract with Carrefour/Carmila in France add revenue visibility for 2026 and 5) JCDecaux's programmatic platform continues to scale.

Valuation

We set a DCF-based Dec-27 PT of €30 (previously €29). We assume a WACC of 9.5% and Terminal Growth rate of 2.0%.

Risks to Rating and Price Target

We believe that the main risks to our rating and target price include the following: 1) Higher-than-expected maintenance capex; 2) Lower-than-expected revenue; 3) value-dilutive acquisitions; and 4) a lower-than-expected contribution from recent contract wins.

JCDecaux (JCDX.PA, DEC FP) Price Chart

Source: Bloomberg Finance L.P. and J.P. Morgan; price data adjusted for stock splits and dividends.
Initiated coverage Oct 06, 2004. All share prices are as of market close on the previous business day.

The chart(s) show J.P. Morgan’s continuing coverage of the stocks; the current analysts may or may not have covered it over the entire period. J.P. Morgan ratings or designations: OW = Overweight, N= Neutral, UW = Underweight, NR = Not Rated

Explanation of Equity Research Ratings, Designations and Analyst(s) Coverage Universe:

J.P. Morgan uses the following rating system: Overweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will outperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe); Neutral (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will perform in line with the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe); and Underweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe. NR is Not Rated. In this case, J.P. Morgan has removed the rating and, if applicable, the price target, for this stock because of either a lack of a sufficient fundamental basis or for legal, regulatory or policy reasons. The previous rating and, if applicable, the price target, no longer should be relied upon. An NR designation is not a recommendation or a rating. Some stocks under coverage have a rating but no price target; in these cases, we expect the stock will outperform/perform in line/underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe of the relevant duration of the region. In our Asia (ex-Australia and ex-India) and U.K. small- and mid-cap Equity Research, each stock's expected total return is compared to the expected total return of a benchmark country market index, not to those Research Analysts' coverage universe. If it does not appear in the Important Disclosures section of this report, the certifying Research Analyst's coverage universe can be found on J.P. Morgan's Research website, <https://www.jpmorganmarkets.com>.
