

Retail Radar

May 13 - Software vs Semis Positioning

As we will be hosting our flagship NY Quantitative & AI Conference on May 19-20, there will be no edition of the Retail Radar next week. If you are attending, we look forward to seeing you there in person.

Retail Trading Activity Overview

- Last week's stronger retail buying proved short-lived, with purchases moderating again this week to just below their 12m average, as markets look ahead to the Trump–Xi meeting beginning tomorrow. Both ETF and single stock purchases were moderate, tracking around the 55%ile vs the past year's history.
- Within ETFs, Tech-related names continued to be popular (e.g. QQQM: 4.2z and KWEB: 5.3z, Figure 8), although overall at lower volumes (see Equity Sector ETFs in Figure 15). Attention shifted toward copper, which continued to climb amid a rebound in Chinese demand, strong AI-driven fundamentals, and rising supply risks—most notably around Middle Eastern sulfur. Retail investors quickly traded around the theme, recording their largest single-day purchase in COPX on Tuesday (+6.7z), followed by profit-taking on Wednesday (-3.4z, Figure 10).
- This month, breaking from prior patterns, retail investors have begun trimming their exposure to software stocks—particularly MSFT and PLTR. MSFT, for example, shifted from the 2nd most-bought stock in April (behind TSLA) to the 2nd most-sold MTD in May—and the most-sold last week. By contrast, retail investors have continued adding to semis positions this month: ETFs such as SOXX and SMH continue to see inflows (1.6z and 1.1z, respectively), while their buying into DRAM remained robust after more than quadrupling last week (report, Figure 6).
- Looking at broader positioning on the theme, we refreshed our Software vs Semis Crowding analysis to assess how dislocated these two sectors are (Figure 1 and report)—and the distortion has only expanded further. It was supported by another leg of re-crowding in semis following a stellar earnings season for the group (+124% YoY earnings growth) and a resumption of the “risk-on” trade in April, all the while software positioning remained at lows despite good results (+25% earnings growth). In addition, retail crowding has continued to rise in semis while easing in software (for example, net selling MSFT and PLTR). Finally, shorts continue to build in software (100%ile, a squeeze risk), while remaining stable and lower in semis.
- Earnings Season continues to deliver robust results, with Software companies (DDOG, FTNT, PTC, NET, APP) and Semis & Tech Hardware (COHR, AKAM, GEN, CDW, CSCO) broadly reinforcing strong fundamentals, see Single Stock Stories with Elevated Retail Activity and 1Q26 Earnings Update.

Retail Trading Activity in Numbers for the Week: May 7 to May 13

- Retail flows were at $6.4B this week, above the 12-month avg of $6.6B/week. Retail investors continued to favor ETFs (+$5.5B) over Single Stocks (+$824M).
- Outside of Broad Based Equity ETFs (+$1.6B), retail ETF buying was influenced by Fixed Income—Multi Sector (+$247M), Equity Sector Technology (+$217M), Equity Style Dividend (+$189M) and International Equity - EAFE ($184M).
- This week, and in line with prior weeks, retail investors continued to buy AI datacenters and electrification (JPAMAIDE), Growth, Top 30 AI/Datacenter Beneficiaries, Mag 7 and Growth, along with Fed Cut Outperformers, see Figure 12.
- Activity in Mag7 this week: Retail investors bought: NVDA (+$644M), TSLA (+$275M), GOOGL/GOOG (+$215M), META (+$21M), AMZN (+$17M) and sold AAPL (-$8M) and MSFT (-$117M).
- Outside of Mag7, retail investors favored Tech (+$460M) and Staples (+$126M) and were net sellers of Financials (-$282M), Communications (-$174M) and Energy (-$172M).
- Top 5 retail stocks last week: NVDA (+$644M), TSLA (+$275M), SNDK (+$227M), GOOGL/GOOG (+$215M) and ASML (+$122M). Bottom 5 retail stocks: MSFT (-$117M, -1.0z), QCOM (-$88M, -2.8z), RKL B (-$84M, -3.6z), PLTR (-$82M) and NFLX (-$46M).
- In options, retail share is still at highs, driven by calls in Tech, Figure 61 and Figure 63. The most traded options were in the following names, echoing previous weeks: TSLA, MU, NVDA, AMD, INTC, SNDK, GOOGL/GOOG, META, AAPL, MSFT and AMZN. For the most bought/sold delta and gamma names, see Retail Activity in Options. Also see Retail Investors Options Activity by Sectors.
- Futures Activity (Non Retail): Over the past week, Futures traders net sold ~$0.8B, primarily driven by net sales in RTY (~$0.9B) and ES (~$0.2B) partially offset by net buys in NQ (~$0.3B).

Single Stock Stories with Elevated Retail Activity

Hedge Funds vs. Retail: High Short Interest Meme Stocks

- KMB ($5.4M bought last week, 0.3z, Figure 18): The company recently received approval from India's Competition Commission for its acquisition of sole control over Kenvue Inc. (link). Retail investors have shown interest in the stock since January 2026, with net purchases totaling $181 million, alongside moderate short interest at 12%, which has increased by 5% since January 2026.
- KLAR ($3M bought last week, -0.1z, Figure 19): The company announced it will integrate its flexible payment options into Google's Gemini app and Google Search (including AI Mode) in the U.S. through Google Pay (link). YTD, the stock is down roughly 50%, yet retail investors have continued to accumulate shares, with net purchases totaling approximately $53 million. Over the same period, short interest increased from about 9% to 17%.
- RIVN ($19M sold last week, 0.1z, Figure 20): The company introduced its AI voice assistant, expanding access to all compatible vehicles (link). Retail investors have been active since November 2025, with cumulative net purchases of approximately $430 million. Short interest remains elevated at 19%, up about 2% since the start of this month.

Earnings Stories:

- Software companies reported a broadly strong week of earnings: DDOG ($40M sold on 5/7, -7.7z, Figure 35) had an exceptional quarter — revenue grew 32% y/y (4th consecutive acceleration), new logo bookings doubled, and guidance was raised meaningfully, driven by broad-based strength and landmark hyperscaler AI lab deals. FTNT ($3M bought on 5/6, 1.7z, Figure 31) delivered a good quarter with product revenue up 41% y/y on strong hardware demand and AI datacenter wins, though service revenue decelerated for a 12th straight quarter. PTC's ($1.3M sold on 5/6, -0.7z, Figure 33) quarter reflected stronger execution and a cleaner strategic focus despite mixed headline numbers. NET ($32M bought on 5/8, 7.5z, Figure 45) beat on revenue and raised FY26 guidance, but a surprise 20% workforce reduction, 430bps of gross margin compression, and merely in-line 2Q guidance created a mixed picture despite strong top-line momentum. APP ($4M sold on 5/6, -0.4z, Figure 51) reported a 1Q beat and guided 2Q in-line with expectations. Revenue growth of 11% Q/Q beat mgmt's 5-7% guide, and slightly exceeded investor expectations (link). The stock was up +6% following results but has since given back all of its gains.
- Semis & Tech Hardware continued their strong earnings streak: COHR ($1.8M bought on 5/7, 0.4z, Figure 37) posted a solid quarter despite a high earnings bar on surging data center and communications demand. AKAM's ($9.3M sold on 5/7, -5.6z, Figure 41) revenue was on the lighter side, but most of the focus was directed towards its $1.8B Cloud Infrastructure Services megadeal, which materially changes capital intensity. GEN ($1M bought on 5/7, 2.3z, Figure 43) traded upwards +7% after the security software company posted a strong beat. On the flipside, despite a guidance raise, CDW ($1M, sold on 5/7, -0.4z, Figure 39) disappointed as margin and supply concerns cloud the path forward. AMAT ($14M bought on 5/13, 2.2z, Figure 47) and CSCO ($3M sold on 5/13, -0.1z, Figure 49) report tomorrow/overnight.
- EXPE ($9.7M bought on 5/7, 2.5z, Figure 53): Expedia shares traded down -9% post-close as geopolitical headwinds drove mixed 1Q results and a cautious outlook (link).
- XYZ ($8M bought on 5/7, 2.9z, Figure 55): Block reported a strong beat and raise across the top and bottom line driven once again by Cash App acceleration, specifically growth in lending products (namely Afterpay, Borrow, Cash App Card and Post-Purchase BNPL) (link). The stock was +7% post-earnings but has since given back most of its gains.
- MTD ($1.3M bought on 5/7, 0.9z, Figure 57): Mettler-Toledo dropped -19% post-earnings as customer caution drove a softer quarter. The company reiterated its 2026 guidance, but it implies a steeper 2H organic ramp (link).
- MNST ($1M sold on 5/7, -0.6z, Figure 59): Monster Beverage jumped +14% after EPS beat on much stronger-than-expected top-line and leverage in the middle of the P&L, which more than offset a slightly lower gross margin (link).

Explanation of Equity Research Ratings, Designations and Analyst(s) Coverage Universe:

J.P. Morgan uses the following rating system: Overweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will outperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst’s, or the Research Analyst’s team’s, coverage universe); Neutral (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will perform in line with the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst’s, or the Research Analyst’s team’s, coverage universe); and Underweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst’s, or the Research Analyst’s team’s, coverage universe. NR is Not Rated. In this case, J.P. Morgan has removed the rating and, if applicable, the price target, for this stock because of either a lack of a sufficient fundamental basis or for legal, regulatory or policy reasons. The previous rating and, if applicable, the price target, no longer should be relied upon. An NR designation is not a recommendation or a rating. Some stocks under coverage have a rating but no price target; in these cases, we expect the stock will outperform/perform in line/underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst’s, or the Research Analyst’s team’s, coverage universe of the relevant duration of the region. In our Asia (ex-Australia and ex-India) and U.K. small- and mid-cap Equity Research, each stock’s expected total return is compared to the expected total return of a benchmark country market index, not to those Research Analysts’ coverage universe. If it does not appear in the Important Disclosures section of this report, the certifying Research Analyst’s coverage universe can be found on J.P. Morgan’s Research website, <https://>.

J.P. Morgan Equity Research Ratings Distribution, as of April 04, 2026

	Overweight (buy)	Neutral (hold)	Underweight (sell)
J.P. Morgan Global Equity Research Coverage*	51%	37%	12%
IB clients	83%	79%	74%
JPMS Equity Research Coverage*	49%	39%	13%
IB clients	94%	93%	85%

*Please note that the percentages may not add to 100% because of rounding.

Percentage of subject companies within each of the "buy," "hold" and "sell" categories for which J.P. Morgan has provided investment banking services within the previous 12 months.

For purposes of FINRA ratings distribution rules only, our Overweight rating falls into a buy rating category; our Neutral rating falls into a hold rating category; and our Underweight rating falls into a sell rating category. Please note that stocks with an NR designation are not included in the table above. This information is current as of the end of the most recent calendar quarter.
