Investor Presentation | Asia Pacific

Asia Summer School: Power: Changing Face

In the age of electricity, Asia’s power markets are becoming increasingly more dynamic, prompting policymakers to focus on securing energy supply chains. As these markets evolve, shifts in power economics, emerging fuel sources, and advances in energy storage technologies are reshaping the region’s electricity landscape.

Need for Electricity as Energy Shocks Become More Frequent

Since the 1970s, global events and energy crises have triggered a rise in emergency response and energy security policies worldwide

Note: The analysis focuses on 85 countries, covering 93% of global primary energy demand, 87% of global oil demand and 95% of global natural gas demand.

Powering AI: Asia vs US vs Europe Data Center Power Demand

We estimate Asia's DC power demand CAGR to be ~24% over 2023-30, exceeding that of the US and Europe, driven by faster AI inference demand and more investments committed to the region

Source: Morgan Stanley Research estimates.

Who’s Adding DC Capacity in Asia: A Non-linear Growth in Need of DCs

China will drive a significant portion of data center growth in Asia, as inference demand and chip self sufficiency drive commoditization and faster commercialization

Source: Morgan Stanley Research estimates.

US Power Supply Chain Constraints Also Help More AI Capacity in Asia

We estimate ~9GW of potential power shortfall for US DCs factoring in suitable nuclear and fuel cell power with a possible 6GW spillover to Asia

Source: Morgan Stanley Research estimates.

More Energy Storage & Grid Investments Needed

Energy Storage Expands Rapidly, Even in Markets Outside of China

Coupled with high renewable deployment, we expect ESS additions of around 2700GWh by 2030

Source: Morgan Stanley Research estimates.

Power Grid Deployment Boom

A lack of grid capacity is emerging as a critical bottleneck, driving higher levels of congestion and demand growth. Access to power via the grid is key in this 'Age of Electricity' and is a US$1trn investment requirement.

Economics of Power

How Power Prices Have Moved

Power prices have inflected globally as power markets tighten on AI, supply chain reshoring, and electrification, coupled with insufficient baseload investments

Source: Company data, Bloomberg, PLN Indonesia, EPPO Thailand, ST Suruhanjaya Malaysia, DOE Philippines, EMA Singapore, Morgan Stanley Research.

Not All Kilowatts Are Equal: The Rise of Tiered Power Prices

Country	Policy
US	Across many utilities and states, large load tariffs are being designed and approved by utility commissions to protect existing ratepayers and reduce stranded asset risk.
Ireland	The Commission for Regulation of Utilities (CRU) “Large Energy Users” policy refresh (2024): CRU proposes tighter connection policy and expectations around demand-side response, and cost-reflective terms for LEUs - a de-facto differentiation vs. small users.
Spain	(2021 reform): New access tariffs (e.g., 2.0TD/3.0TD/6.1TD) split charges into energy vs. T&D components, added six time-of-day bands, and differentiates by contracted capacity and voltage - materially sharper signals for high-voltage/industrial vs. low-voltage users.
Japan	(TEPCO, 2024/2025): Revised extra-high/high-voltage rate options and retiring older options by Mar-2026, with explicit adjustments that better track procurement conditions - codifying different treatment for large, HV/EHV users.
Malaysia	The introduction of new time (peak vs. off-peak) and voltage (low, medium, high, ultra high) based pricing structures rewards efficient use of consumption. Ultra-high-voltage grid users, like data centers, could see a ~14% increase in power bills, effectively paying ~US$140/MWh, in line with global benchmarks.
Thailand	Thailand is implementing tiered power pricing for households. High-usage consumers are subsidising low-usage consumers, paying 60% more.

Regulators are carving out distinct rate classes and bespoke tariffs for very large, price-agnostic or high-reliability loads (notably data centers) to protect households and small businesses from grid upgrade costs

Major Components of Electricity Tariff

Increasingly, transmission and distribution charges are becoming more prominent

Source: Company data, Bloomberg, PLN Indonesia, EPPO Thailand, ST Suruhanjaya Malaysia, DOE Philippines, EMA Singapore, Morgan Stanley Research.

Regulated Utilities: Regulation & Economic Growth

- Regulatory Environment – The key factor that determines a utility’s ability to make new investments, earn a fair return, and sets the level at which the company will finance externally.
- Rate Base Growth – Rate base represents the amount invested by the utility in the electric system.

Capex > Depreciation	Rate Base Growth	Rate Base
Capex < Depreciation	Declining Rate Base	≈ PPE
		— Depreciation
		± Deferred Taxes

- Returns – Set by regulators. CAPM, DCF models often used to determine allowed return on equity.

Key Formulas:

Net Income = Rate Base x Allowed Equity Ratio x Allowed ROE

Revenue = Cost + Profit

- Regulatory Compact – A utility should be allowed to earn “fair and reasonable” return on its “used and useful” capital investments and recover “prudently incurred” costs.

STOCK RATINGS

Morgan Stanley uses a relative rating system using terms such as Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated or Underweight (see definitions below). Morgan Stanley does not assign ratings of Buy, Hold or Sell to the stocks we cover. Overweight, Equal-weight,

Not-Rated and Underweight are not the equivalent of buy, hold and sell. Investors should carefully read the definitions of all ratings used in Morgan Stanley Research. In addition, since Morgan Stanley Research contains more complete information concerning the analyst's views, investors should carefully read Morgan Stanley Research, in its entirety, and not infer the contents from the rating alone. In any case, ratings (or research) should not be used or relied upon as investment advice. An investor's decision to buy or sell a stock should depend on individual circumstances (such as the investor's existing holdings) and other considerations.

Global Stock Ratings Distribution

(as of June 30, 2026)

The Stock Ratings described below apply to Morgan Stanley's Fundamental Equity Research and do not apply to Debt Research produced by the Firm.

For disclosure purposes only (in accordance with FINRA requirements), we include the category headings of Buy, Hold, and Sell alongside our ratings of Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated and Underweight. Morgan Stanley does not assign ratings of Buy, Hold or Sell to the stocks we cover. Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated and Underweight are not the equivalent of buy, hold, and sell but represent recommended relative weightings (see definitions below). To satisfy regulatory requirements, we correspond Overweight, our most positive stock rating, with a buy recommendation; we correspond Equal-weight and Not-Rated to hold and Underweight to sell recommendations, respectively.

Stock Rating Category	Coverage Universe		Investment Banking Clients (IBC)			Other Material Investment Services Clients (MISC)
	Count	% of Total	Count	% of Total IBC	% of Rating Category	Count	% of Total Other MISC

Data include common stock and ADRs currently assigned ratings. Investment Banking Clients are companies from whom Morgan Stanley received investment banking compensation in the last 12 months. Due to rounding off of decimals, the percentages provided in the "% of total" column may not add up to exactly 100 percent.

Analyst Stock Ratings

Overweight (O). The stock's total return is expected to exceed the average total return of the analyst's industry (or industry team's) coverage universe, on a risk-adjusted basis, over the next 12-18 months.

Equal-weight (E). The stock's total return is expected to be in line with the average total return of the analyst's industry (or industry team's) coverage universe, on a risk-adjusted basis, over the next 12-18 months.

Not-Rated (NR). Currently the analyst does not have adequate conviction about the stock's total return relative to the average total return of the analyst's industry (or industry team's) coverage universe, on a risk-adjusted basis, over the next 12-18 months.

Underweight (U). The stock's total return is expected to be below the average total return of the analyst's industry (or industry team's) coverage universe, on a risk-adjusted basis, over the next 12-18 months.

Unless otherwise specified, the time frame for price targets included in Morgan Stanley Research is 12 to 18 months.

Analyst Industry Views

Attractive (A): The analyst expects the performance of his or her industry coverage universe over the next 12-18 months to be attractive vs. the relevant broad market benchmark, as indicated below.
