Concerns about product delay and share loss overdone...

... rubin upgrade, ASIC and optical transceiver PCB are key drivers

Action: Maintain Buy but cut TP to CNY389; implying 94% upside; short-term concerns overdone

Despite recent market concerns about the delay of NVIDIA's (NVDA US, Not rated) Kyber rack, we think the production ramp-up of Rubin GPU in 2H26 would continue to support Victory Giant's (VGT) PCB value content upgrade as well as margin expansion. Although there might be more competition in NVIDIA's Rubin compute tray / HDI (High Density Interconnect) PCB, likely from ZDT (4958 TT, Buy), we think this should be the supply chain diversification efforts of AI customers, amid an extremely under supply situation. Meanwhile, we think VGT remains as the leading supplier of a GPU customer, while its entry into ASIC and optical transceiver customers would drive sustainable growth and more balanced customer exposure in 2H26-2027F. We cut FY26-28F revenue / earnings forecasts by 7-13%/ 7-14% to reflect a likely lower HDI revenue contribution. We maintain our Buy rating with a lower TP of HKD447, based on 27x (unchanged) FY27F EPS of CNY14.41. The stock is currently trading at 14x FY27F EPS.

Market concerns about Kyber / backplane delay and GPU customer's supply chain diversification likely overdone; the company's HDI capacity is still a strategic asset

We think VGT's GPU shipments for NVIDIA's Rubin GPU may have already started in mid-2026, and this could ramp up in 2H26F. Despite market concerns about technology issues and huge market share loss, we think the company's existing and potential HDI capacity remain as a strategic asset to secure a lead in this segment, and there are not many challengers in sight due to high technology barriers and material / equipment shortages, in our view. Moreover, we believe not only the GPU customer, but also ASIC customers may start to adopt HDI from 2028F, leading to better demand for the company's HDI products. We expect a 82% revenue CAGR for the HDI segment in FY26-28F, contributing 63% of total revenue in FY28F.

ASIC and optical transceiver help company to diversify its customer portfolio

We think the company has already made good progress in the ASIC customer segment, as well as the 800G / 1.6T transceiver market, which should enjoy strong demand uptick in the next few years. We believe VGT still stands out as one of the leading AI PCB makers, and we estimate a 77% revenue CAGR for the company's AI & HPC (high performance computing) sector over 2026F-28F, contributing 77% of total sales in FY28F.

Company profile

VGT is a key player in advanced printed circuit board (PCB) products for AI and high-performance computing.

Valuation Methodology

Our TP of HKD447.00 is based on 27x 2027F EPS of CNY14.41, in line with its A-share historical median P/E. The benchmark index is Hang Seng Index.

Risks that may impede the achievement of the target price

Downside risks: 1) lower-than-expected PCB demand in downstream sectors such as servers and auto electronics; 2) more fierce competition in the high-end PCB market leading to pressure on margins; 3) higher-than-expected raw material cost pressure, and 4) worse-than-expected geopolitical tensions in global AI value chain.

ESG

VGT is a leading PCB maker, who shares social responsibility by offering PCB products for network hardware such as server and switch. The PCB manufacturing may have impact on the environment while factory automation may help to improve the environmental friendliness.

Earnings forecasts revisions

We cut FY26-28F revenue forecasts by 7-13% to primarily reflect the slower production ramp-up for HDI PCB products and more competition for key AI customer's wallet shares, in our view. As HDI PCB carries a higher GPM, our GPM forecasts are lowered by 0.2-0.4pp due to the product mix change. As a result, our earnings forecasts are down by 7-14% for FY26-28F.

Our FY26-28F revenue / earnings forecasts were 7-15% / 7-11% lower than WIND consensus estimates, as we are more cautious about the competition in hyperscale AI customer's PCB wallet shares.
