

IP Toys Monthly Tracker - May

Pop Mart's share price has been resilient since its 1Q26 earnings release on 13 May. While Mr. Duan Yongping's purchase of 81m shares (c.6% stake) in late May boosted market confidence, we do not see any material change in fundamentals. Key catalysts ahead include: (1) the launch of Labubu 4.0, and (2) World Cup-related promotions, which could further drive overseas momentum.

China

- Second-hand prices: Labubu plush second-hand prices stabilized MoM. Of the top 30 most wanted products on the second-hand exchange platforms, we see more diversity: three of them are non-Pop Mart products, while the Pop Mart x aespa collaboration remains most wanted.
- Ecommerce sales: Meritco has not released May data yet; Apr data shows Pop Mart's GMV on ecommerce platforms was up 70% YoY and up 25% MoM. Meanwhile, Bloks' ecommerce sales were up 16% you, and Miniso's was up 11% YoY in Apr.

Overseas

- Social media interactions: Amid the ongoing normalization trend, Pop Mart's engagement on TikTok picked up in May for its global and Thailand accounts, which were up 49% and 67% MoM, respectively.
- Social media followers: In May, Pop Mart added 13k new Instagram followers across its Global, Thailand, US, and UK accounts combined (vs. +19k in Apr; Figures 19-20).
- Website traffic & app active users: Pop Mart app's active users declined in May, both globally and in the US. Global and regional Google Search Trends for Pop Mart continued to trend downward (Figures 21-24).

New Product Launches/events

- Pop Mart: Pop Mart's 1Q26 results were broadly in line with market expectations, while the post-earnings call highlighted possible margin pressure in 2026 (refer to our report). Despite this, the share price was resilient, supported by Duan Yongping's purchase of 81m shares, representing c.6% of total shares outstanding, between 25–28 May, making him a substantial shareholder of the company (Figure 3).
- On the product front, Pop Mart stepped up global marketing initiatives through World Cup-related promotions, including an appearance in the music video of the official FIFA World Cup 2026 song "Goals", and a collaboration with Coca-Cola to launch Labubu-branded cans in China.
- Bloks: Bloks launched 13 new series in May (vs. 12 in Apr and 21 in 1Q26). The new releases feature a more diversified IP portfolio, with a particular focus on Star Wars, while the company continued to emphasize assembly vehicle products. Looking ahead, Bloks is expected to launch collaborative products tied to Toy Story 5 ahead of the movie's release in late June.

Company Valuation/Risks

Bandai Namco Holdings Inc.

We forecast sales from main IP by analyzing the product cycle in each avenue (domestic toys, anime slates, and gaming). We project Toys & Hobby OP to be driven by anime slates of 1P/3P IP developed by internal and external studios. We expect Gaming OP to grow, driven by high-margin repeat title sales. Applying a 26.5x P/E to our revised FY3/27 EPS estimate of ¥241 yields PT of ¥6,390 (C. 10% premium to gaming Avg). Risks include (1) saturation and intensified competition in Japan mobile games; (2) slowdown in the growth of Gunpla fan base; (3) inability of the pipeline titles to drive top-line growth or to foster the repeat title sales in the following year; (4) material cost hike pressurizes margins; (5) impact of global recession on overseas demand; and (6) slow OP recovery of Real Entertainment (Amusement).

Bloks Group Ltd

Our primary valuation methodology is DCF, employing a WACC of 9.5%, including COE of 9.5%, beta of 1, and terminal growth rate of 1% (TGR is in line with our range of 0-3% set for China consumer stocks). Key risks include fashion risk and IP concentration, channel inventory, IP renewals, and competition from other brands.

MINISO Group Holding Limited

Our primary valuation methodology is DCF, employing a WACC of 15.1%, beta of 1.5, and terminal growth rate of 1.0% (TGR is in line with our range of 0-3% set for China consumer stocks).

Downside risks include lower-than-expected performance in overseas expansion, store opening vs cannibalization, inability to sustain popularity of products, YH's performance dragging Miniso's resources, and Miniso continuing to branch out to less favorable/premature investments.

Pop Mart International Group Limited

Our primary valuation methodology is DCF, employing a WACC of 10.6%, including COE of 9.5%, beta of 1.0, and terminal growth rate of 1% (TGR is in line with our range of 0-3% set for China consumer stocks).

Industry risks include policy risk, especially for blind boxes, and changes in consumer preferences for pop toys or blind-box consumption. Company risks include inability to sustain the popularity of its existing IPs, failure to develop new IPs, product quality issues, and overexpansion resulting in cannibalization of store sales.
