

European Rates Watch

EGB supply, positioning & flows

Futures positioning: Core and more core

Outstanding: Across the German curve, DU remains the most net-long contract (Exhibit 11). Positioning is net short in OE and even more so in RX, while UB sits close to neutral. Investors remain net long in Italian futures, and neutral in French.

Weekly change (Wed-Wed): Open interest increased for all German future contracts, with net positioning turning more long/less short across the curve (Exhibit 12). In contrast, positioning in Italian and French futures was led by added shorts. However, as we begin to approach the rolling period, we grow increasingly hesitant in relying on futures positioning as proxy for broader market positioning/sentiment.

French headwinds, long 10y EU vs France

Heading into the summer months, we see several headwinds for France that the market may be underappreciating. First, 45% of expected 2026 net French govt bond supply is scheduled for the Jun-Aug period. Second, with the budget season approaching, the verdict determining Le Pen's potential candidacy in July, and the eventual presidential race beginning, we remain concerned that political & fiscal risks would start to weigh on OATs early on. Current valuations do not appear to reflect this. Lastly, Moody's maintains a negative outlook; by the October review that outlook will have been in place for 12 months - within the typical 12–18 month window when outlook-driven rating actions often occur.

In the Global Rates Weekly, 22 May 2026 we recommend going long EU 3.75% Dec-35 vs FRTF 3.5% Nov-35 at 30bp, targeting 40bp with a stop at 25bp (tightest level this year, reached on Feb 25th). The risks are a larger increase in EU bond supply than currently communicated and growth/fiscal outperformance in France.

Germany: Central Banks & banks step up purchases

In March 2026: leveraged investors net sold €3bn of German government securities (Exhibit 43), with the largest outflows seen in 30y (Exhibit 44). Bank net purchases reached past €13bn, with largest purchases seen in Bubills and 10y (Exhibit 45 & Exhibit 46). Central bank net purchases notably picked up to €32bn, with the 2-10y sector seeing the largest inflows (Exhibit 47 & Exhibit 48).

Supply: Time for syndications?

We expect gross EGB supply at €15-18bn next week through auctions. In addition, we see potential for several syndications. First, Portugal cancelled their auction next week, indicating they may instead offer a syndication (expect 15-30y for €3bn). Spain has in the last two years offered a 10y syndication at the end of May (expect €10-15bn). Greece may also offer €2-3bn, with 5y/15y/30y tenor or dual-tenor offering. Lastly, there will be large redemptions paid on Jun 1st that could be reinvested from next week.

	Syndications done YTD	syndications left	Timing	Tenor	Amount
Austria	2	1	Sep/Oct	Combined multiple tenors	€3-5bn	We don't expect a fourth syndication
Belgium	3	0	-	-	-	We don't expect a fourth syndication.
Finland	2	1	Q3	5y	€3-4bn	We don't expect a fourth syndication.
France	3	0	-	-	-	We don't expect a 4 th syndication
Germany	3	1	Q3	30y	€5-6bn	We don't expect a 5 th syndication
Greece	1	1	May	5y/15y/30y (pot. dual)	€2-3bn	We don't expect a third syndication
Ireland	2	0	-	-	-	We don't expect a 2nd syndication
Italy	3	2	May	Dual syndicate	€5-8bn	Besides BTP Italy, will often do 4th + 5th around June then Sep/Oct. Tend to syndicate tenors not already offered. Volumes often +10bn in below 10y, and 5-10bn in higher tenors. NGEU uptake may lead to greater focus on shorter tenors.

Appendix

A guide to the BofA Global Investor Survey

Our monthly survey has asked the same two questions since its May 1989 start date: “Relative to your own benchmark, 1) how is your portfolio structured in terms of currency exposure, and 2) how is your portfolio structured in terms of duration exposure?”. In December 2011, we added two questions: 1) “How would you describe your view on the following currencies, and 2) how would you describe your view on the following bond markets?”. Regarding “exposure”, there are five responses from which to choose: Heavily Overweight, Moderately Overweight, Neutral, Moderately Underweight, and Heavily Underweight, while for “view”, the equivalent responses are Very Bullish, Bullish, Neutral, Bearish, and Very Bearish. In both cases, responses are weighted to create a Bull-Bear index from -100 to 100, with zero representing neutral.
