- Bernstein：The evidence increasingly suggests these foundations are working: demand is broadening beyond outerwear, leather goods are gaining traction, full-price is outperforming outlet and wholesale partners are reordering.

- Bernstein：AMAT's FQ4 results were good ($10,409M/ $4.16 vs Street $10,269M/$4.06), driven by strong Equipment sales (with DRAM and NAND above), with Services revenues and Other (which now includes Display) also above consensus.

- Bernstein：By geography, performance in China is particularly reassuring, growing by $+5\%$ (vs. $+4.8\%$ consensus expectations), driven by local spend and intraregional tourism, reflecting a strong brand positioning, localisation and execution.

- Bernstein：Close Date 12 Nov 2026 CSCO Close Price (USD) 102.01 Price Target (USD) 110.00 Upside/(Downside) 8% 52-Week Range 130.37/71.72 SPX 7,592.40 FYE Jul Div Yield 1.6% Market Cap (USD) (M) 402,183 EV (USD) (M) 417,450 Performance YTD 1M 6M 12M Absolute (%) 32.4 (11.6) 2.7 37.9 SPX (%) 10.9 (2.8⋯

- Bernstein：We continue to see CVS as having attractive exposure to its MA turnaround, as well as potential for more stabilizing retail pharmacy and PBM earnings.

- Bernstein：The company will report earnings as scheduled next week on November 17 (there was no preannouncement accompanying today's news).

- Citi：According to Bloomberg (source, 10 Nov), in the last month, PBoC has required selective China banks to indicate the negative impact on new central/local government bond subscriptions (i.e., in the range of 30%) if a tax rate of 25% (vs. tax-exempted currently) is imposed on the interest income⋯

- Citi：Management noted there remains significant room for growth, as the current relationship between contracted backlog and active power suggests substantial remaining capacity available for sale.
