NextEra Energy (NEE) Q2 26: Firing on all cylinders - large load tariffs at FPL, strong origination at NEER

NEE delivered a thesis-affirming Q2, with adj. EPS of $1.15, ahead of consensus at $1.13, and growing 9.5% y/y, while reiterating their 2026 adj. EPS guidance at the high end of $3.92-$4.02. The results reinforce our view that NEE is among the best positioned U.S. utilities to benefit from accelerating data center driven power demand.

Large-load demand at FPL: 21GW of large-load interest, of which 12GW in advance discussions, and 8GW in development expectations by 2032 (updated from 6GW). Management expects to announce at least one large-load transaction at FPL by the end of the year.

NEER Origination: Added 3.6GW of renewables and storage origination in the quarter, including 2 GW of battery storage, bringing total backlog to 35.1GW from 33GW in Q1.

Progress on the Dominion merger continues, with regulatory filings and shareholder meetings advancing as expected; expected close in H2 2027.

Positives from the quarter: Adj. EPS beat, reaffirmation of 2026 and LT guidance, increased visibility into large-load demand, continue strength in NEE recontracting

Negatives: No guidance raise despite tracking above the 8% adj. EPS growth target

We raise our price target slightly from $107 to $108, reflecting our updated estimates following the Q2 26 results.

Investment Implications

We remain Outperform on NEE, with an updated price target of $108 (old $107)

DETAILS

FPL: RATE BASE COMPOUNDING CONTINUES

FPL reported Q2 adj. EPS of $.067, in line with consensus estimates and up 8.1% y/y. Capex was ~$2.8 billion in Q2, and full-year guide remained $12-$13 billion. Regulatory capital employed grew 9.3% y/y, accelerating from 8.8% y/y growth in Q1.

FPL continues to stand out operationally, while continuing to keep customer bills in check, (30% lower than national average). Reliability is more than 60% better than the national average.

NEER: BACKLOG QUALITY AND RECONTRACTING STAND OUT

NEER reported Q2 adj. EPS of $0.62, above consensus of $0.59 and up 17% y/y. The segment added 3.6GW of renewables and storage origination in the quarter, including 2 GW of battery storage, bringing total backlog to 35.1GW from 33GW in Q1.

The 2 GW storage reaffirms NEER's backlog growth is tied to assets that can provide capacity, reliability, and load-following capability rather than just energy production, which fits better with current utility and hyperscaler needs.

Recontracting also remained constructive. Since the Q1 earnings call, NEER recontracted more than 500 MW of existing projects at an average premium of roughly $20/MWh above recent realized pricing and with average terms of ~5 years, proving that the operating fleet can roll off legacy contracts without suffering a material value reset.

Other notable updates:

- Duane Arnold remains on track to return no later than Q1 2029, the Iowa Utilities Commission approved a generating certificate, and NEER acquired the remaining minority interest, becoming the sole owner of the project.
- NextEra Energy Transmission energized a 137-mile, 345-kV transmission line in New Mexico ahead of schedule and on budget, and MISO selected the company as part of a consortium for two large-scale 765-kV Illinois transmission projects.

DATA-CENTER HUBS

NEER now has 30 potential hubs under discussion and expects to reach 40 by year-end. Four different origination channels (hyperscalers, investor-owned utilities, co-ops and municipal utilities, and federal partners) supporting a base case of 15 GW of new generation to serve large-load customers by 2035, with an upside case of 30 GW+.

DOMINION: REGULATORY PATH IS NOW THE FOCUS

On July 15, the companies filed for approval with the Virginia State Corporation Commission, the North Carolina Utilities Commission, and the Public Service Commission of South Carolina; they also filed with FERC and the NRC, and the S-4 became effective on July 23.

Management still targets an H2 2027 close for the merger. The company reiterated the long-term combined-company growth of ~11% in regulatory capital employed through 2032 and 9%+ adjusted EPS through 2032, with a 9%+ target through 2035.

WHAT MATTERS NEXT

- Evidence of conversion of FPL's 12 GW of advanced discussions into signed customer commitments
- Continued momentum in NEER's backlog growth and recontracting
- Continued progress on Dominion approvals without incremental concessions

VALUATION METHODOLOGYNextEra Energy Inc

We blend a DCF valuation on FPL using a 2% growth rate and 6% discount rate on FPL's regulated earnings, with a 14x EV/EBITDA multiple on NEER 2027-28 EBITDA of $12.1B to arrive at a combined target price of $108/sh.

RISKSNextEra Energy Inc

Key downside risks to our price target include FPL returns falling short of the midpoint of guidance, lower overall power demand growth dampening NEER generation, and supply chain risks from higher than expected tariff exposure.
