Inline 2Q26 OP with sequential improvements in DRAM/NAND margin despite special bonus provisioning

Samsung Electronics (SEC) reported 2Q26 revenue of W171.5tn and operating profit of W89.5tn, in line with its pre-earnings guidance of W171tn/W89.4tn, respectively. Memory profit was largely inline with our expectations post the pre-earnings guidance, where we believe solid memory pricing growth led its DRAM operating margin to improve qoq to close to 80%, while same for NAND exceeded 60% despite the provisioning for the special bonus during the quarter.

While the share price corrected close to 40% during the past month, we do not believe that there have been meaningful changes in the core fundamentals of the company - memory demand is continuing to significantly outpace supply with the gap expected to widen in 2027 and continue in 2028, LTAs are being signed that protect downside risk, and the company continues to see improvements in its HBM business where it is now aiming to become the market leader. Adding the potential for a meaningful upside in shareholder returns, we remain constructive on the name now trading at 3.1X P/E and 1.2X P/B on 2027E numbers offering close to a 50% ROE. Reiterate Buy with an updated 12m TP of W490,000 (up from W480,000).

Key takeaways

- Continuous strong AI server demand leading to higher bit growth and limited inventory: With the company actively addressing the strong memory demand coming from AI servers, SEC achieved record-high server revenue mix during the quarter (we believe it was close to half of its DRAM bits during the quarter). Centered around the strength in server demand, the company exceeded its guidance on DRAM bit growth during the quarter (+low-teens% qoq vs. guidance of +MSD% qoq), which we believe likely led to an inventory level of only 2-3 weeks, below what would be regarded as a normal level of inventory.

- 2027 a tighter year than 2026 for memory, with tightness to persist in 2028: SEC is seeing the expansion of agentic AI leading to an exponential growth in token demand and, as a consequence, strong growth in both AI server and general server demand. Despite suppliers' effort to increase spending to build new capacity, with the substantial lead time to see a meaningful increase in supply, SEC does not expect a meaningful supply increase until 2028. Also, based on the pre-booked demand from customers that the company is seeing, SEC continues to expect the supply and demand imbalance this year to widen in 2027, and expects the tightness to persist even into 2028.
- Several details of LTAs disclosed, which we believe were better than expectations: SEC mentioned that the substantial memory tightness is leading to customers asking for long-term agreements (LTA), and given the limited supply available, the company is engaging in discussions prioritizing the customers who would be able to guarantee demand over the long-term. SEC's LTA discussions are typically based on a five-year term, and structured as rolling contracts where negotiations would be conducted each year to extend the contract period by an additional year. The company also disclosed that it has completed contracts with the top five global data center customers, and is currently in the final stage of negotiations with five additional large customers related to AI demand. Once the contracts are finalized, multi-year contract volumes are expected to reach approximately 60–70% of planned production capacity. To strengthen the binding nature of contract, SEC is including substantial advance payments in the form of deposits held over multiple years. Different pricing models are applied for LTAs depending on the customer group and product category, and for general-purpose products, the company has set floor prices at a level sufficient to prepare for future investment risks that may arise from fluctuations in market prices. Based on recent conversation with investors, we believe the details and terms of the LTAs that SEC disclosed were better than expectations, and expect these LTAs to help provide much better earnings visibility and stability compared to previous cycles.
- Confidence in HBM leadership: SEC aims to maintain a balanced supply mix between HBM and conventional DRAM independent of the margin gap between these two products, to support the sustained AI demand. At the same time, the company continues to see a significant improvement in its HBM business, where we believe revenue grew by more than 80% qoq in 2Q26 on the back of a solid shipment of both HBM3E and HBM4, and believe the company is on track to see its HBM sales grow by more than 3X this year. The company expects its HBM4 revenue to grow by more than 3X qoq in 3Q26, and expects HBM4 to reach more than 60% of its HBM revenue in 2H26. As a result, SEC targets to achieve HBM market share in 2H26 similar to its DRAM market share, implying that it is targeting to become the market share leader in the AI memory space.
- Special shareholder return announcement may be imminent: Despite some expectations in the market (based on our conversation with investors) for the company to provide an update to its shareholder return plan and potentially announce special dividend and/or buyback, SEC did not provide a new update at the earnings call. However, the company did mention that it is currently going through an in-depth discussion internally, and considering several options including a special dividend, for which the company plans to provide an update in the near future. We continue to believe that the significant FCF generation by the company could lead to meaningful upside in the company's shareholder return outlook.

Raise earnings estimates and TP to W490,000; reiterate Buy

Mainly reflecting higher conventional DRAM, HBM, and NAND bit shipment assumptions and higher DRAM margin estimates more than offsetting slightly lower DRAM/NAND ASP estimates, we tweak up our 2026E-2028E EPS estimates by ~2%. Accordingly, we raise our 2026E-2027E average SOTP-based 12m TP to W490,000 (from W480,000).

While the share price corrected close to 40% during the past month, we do not think there have been meaningful changes in the core fundamentals of the company - memory demand is continuing to significantly outpace supply with the gap expected to widen in 2027 and continue in 2028, LTAs are being signed that protect downside risk, and the company continues to see improvements in its HBM business where it is now aiming to become the market leader. Adding the potential for a meaningful upside in its shareholder returns, we remain constructive on the name now trading at 3.1X P/E and 1.2X P/B on 2027E numbers offering close to a 50% ROE, and reiterate Buy.

For the preference shares (005935.KS, Buy), we maintain our 12m TP of 360,000, applying our target preferred-to-common discount of 27% (prior 25%), derived from averaging: 1) the pref discount of the 2-factor model, and 2) the average preference shares discount to common shares during the past 1 month. Key risks include 1) major deterioration in memory supply/demand, 2) sharp contraction in smartphone margins, and 3) mobile OLED market share loss.

Price Target Risks and Methodology - Samsung Electronics

Valuation methodology: Our 12m 2026-2027E EV/EBITDA-based SOTP target price for the common share is W490,000. Our 12-month target price for the preference share is W360,000, which is based on our target preferred-to-common shares discount of 27%, derived from averaging: 1) the preferred discount of the 2-factor model and 2) the average preference share discount to common shares during the past 1 month. We are Buy rated on both the common and preference shares.

Key downside risks: 1) major deterioration in memory supply/demand, 2) sharp contraction in smartphone margins, and 3) mobile OLED market share loss.

Investment Thesis - Samsung Electronics

Samsung Electronics (SEC) is one of the largest tech companies in the world, with the #1 market share in several products including memory chips, OLED panels, smartphones, and TVs. We expect the strong earnings power led by memory to continue, supported by our expectation of solid memory pricing continuing and also remaining at an elevated level. We expect this to be helped by the long-term agreements (LTA) with customers, with a higher level of binding commitment likely this time compared to the past. The company is starting to show meaningful progress in HBM, and also considering the higher scope for meaningful shareholder returns, we remain constructive on the name and reiterate our Buy rating.

GS Factor Profile

The Goldman Sachs Factor Profile provides investment context for a stock by comparing key attributes to the market (i.e. our universe of rated stocks) and its sector peers. The four key attributes depicted are: Growth, Financial Returns, Multiple (e.g. valuation) and Integrated (a composite of Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple). Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple are calculated by using normalized ranks for specific metrics for each stock. The normalized ranks for the metrics are then averaged and converted into percentiles for the relevant attribute. The precise calculation of each metric may vary depending on the fiscal year, industry and region, but the standard approach is as follows:

Growth is based on a stock's forward-looking sales growth, EBITDA growth and EPS growth (for financial stocks, only EPS and sales growth), with a higher percentile indicating a higher growth company. Financial Returns is based on a stock's forward-looking ROE, ROCE and CROCI (for financial stocks, only ROE), with a higher percentile indicating a company with higher financial returns. Multiple is based on a stock's forward-looking P/E, P/B, price/dividend (P/D), EV/EBITDA, EV/FCF and EV/Debt Adjusted Cash Flow (DACF) (for financial stocks, only P/E, P/B and P/D), with a higher percentile indicating a stock trading at a higher multiple. The Integrated percentile is calculated as the average of the Growth percentile, Financial Returns percentile and (100% - Multiple percentile).

Financial Returns and Multiple use the Goldman Sachs analyst forecasts at the fiscal year-end at least three quarters in the future. Growth uses inputs for the fiscal year at least seven quarters in the future compared with the year at least three quarters in the future (on a per-share basis for all metrics).

For a more detailed description of how we calculate the GS Factor Profile, please contact your GS representative.

M&A Rank

Across our global coverage, we examine stocks using an M&A framework, considering both qualitative factors and quantitative factors (which may vary across sectors and regions) to incorporate the potential that certain companies could be acquired. We then assign a M&A rank as a means of scoring companies under our rated coverage from 1 to 3, with 1 representing high (30%-50%) probability of the company becoming an acquisition target, 2 representing medium (15%-30%) probability and 3 representing low (0%-15%) probability. For companies ranked 1 or 2, in line with our standard departmental guidelines we incorporate an M&A component into our target price. M&A rank of 3 is considered immaterial and therefore does not factor into our price target, and may or may not be discussed in research.

Ratings, coverage universe and related definitions

Buy (B), Neutral (N), Sell (S) Analysts recommend stocks as Buys or Sells for inclusion on various regional Investment Lists. Being assigned a Buy or Sell on an Investment List is determined by a stock's total return potential relative to its coverage universe. Any stock not assigned as a Buy or a Sell on an Investment List with an active rating (i.e., a stock that is not Rating Suspended, Not Rated, Early-Stage Biotech, Coverage Suspended or Not Covered), is deemed Neutral. Each region manages Regional Conviction Lists, which are selected from Buy rated stocks on the respective region's Investment Lists and represent investment recommendations focused on the size of the total return potential and/or the likelihood of the realization of the return across their respective areas of coverage. The addition or removal of stocks from such Conviction Lists are managed by the Investment Review Committee or other designated committee in each respective region and do not represent a change in the analysts' investment rating for such stocks.

Total return potential represents the upside or downside differential between the current share price and the price target, including all paid or anticipated dividends, expected during the time horizon associated with the price target. Price targets are required for all covered stocks. The total return potential, price target and associated time horizon are stated in each report adding or reiterating an Investment List membership.

Coverage Universe: A list of all stocks in each coverage universe is available by primary analyst, stock and coverage universe at <https://www.gs.com/research/hedge.html>.

Not Rated (NR). The investment rating, target price and earnings estimates (where relevant) are removed pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when Goldman Sachs is acting in an advisory capacity in a merger or in a strategic transaction involving this company, when there are legal, regulatory or policy constraints due to Goldman Sachs' involvement in a transaction, and in certain other circumstances. Early-Stage Biotech (ES). An investment rating and a target price are not assigned pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when this company has neither a drug, treatment or medical device that has passed a Phase II clinical trial nor a license to distribute a post-Phase II drug, treatment or medical device. Rating Suspended (RS). Goldman Sachs Research has suspended the investment rating and price target for this stock, because there is not a sufficient fundamental basis for determining an investment rating or target price. The previous investment rating and target price, if any, are no longer in effect for this stock and should not be relied upon. Coverage Suspended (CS). Goldman Sachs has suspended coverage of this company. Not Covered (NC). Goldman Sachs does not cover this company.
