CPU TAM of $132B by 2030E; Raising TPs on INTC & AMD

CITI'S TAKE

We introduce our server CPU TAM model that includes general purpose CPUs, AI head nodes, and agentic CPU applications. We forecast the CPU TAM to expand to $132B by 2030 or a 35% CAGR, led by agentic CPU growth of an 185% CAGR. We increase our TPs on Buy-rated INTC and Neutral-rated AMD to align with our updated CPU model.

Citi CPU TAM Model — We introduce our server CPU TAM model that includes general purpose CPUs, AI head nodes, and agentic CPU applications. We believe the CPU TAM could expand from $29.3 billion in 2025 to $131.5 billion in 2030, or a 35% CAGR. We expect general purpose CPUs to grow at a 20% CAGR to $50.9 billion in 2030, AI head nodes to grow at a 21% CAGR to $21.1 billion in 2030, and agentic CPUs to grow at a 185% CAGR to $59.4 billion in 2030. We model general purpose CPUs to represent 39% of the TAM in 2030, AI head nodes to represent 16% of the TAM in 2030, and agentic CPUs to represent 45% of the TAM in 2030. For reference, ARM (covered by Andrew Gardiner) forecasted a TAM of $100 billion by 2030 and AMD forecasted a TAM of $120 billion by 2030. By 2030, we expect Intel to have 47% share, AMD to have 34% share, and ARM/Others to have 19% share.

INTC — We raise our data center sales estimates to reflect our updated CPU model, potential upside from Intel's ASIC business, namely its Mount Evans IPU that is used by Google and extends to Anthropic. We lift our price target to $130 using our updated SOTP valuation.

AMD — We raise our data center sales estimates to reflect our updated CPU model. We believe AMD has won Anthropic as a customer for MI450 AI accelerator, based on our discussions with industry contacts, and expect AMD to announce it at Advancing AI day in July. We believe AMD could be the primary beneficiary of the CPU renaissance given its performance leadership and capacity allocation at TSMC. While we are constructive on AMD's CPU opportunity on agentic AI demand, we await the release and success of its next-gen GPU product MI450 and Helios racks. We lift our price target to $460 using our updated SOTP valuation.

1Q26 Market Share Data

AMD and ARM continued to gain unit share over Intel in 1Q26. Intel's server MPU share was down 372 basis points QoQ from 58.7% in 4Q25 to 54.9% in 1Q26 on server CPU supply constraints. AMD's server MPU share was up 228 basis points QoQ from 25.1% in 4Q25 to 27.4% in 1Q26 on strong CPU demand and share gains. ARM's server MPU share was up 145 basis points QoQ from 16.3% in 4Q25 to 17.7% in 1Q26, driven by Nvidia GB200 strength and increased internal server adoption by the CSPs.

Intel

Last week, the WSJ \(May 8, 2026\) reported (citing people familiar with the matter) that Intel and Apple have reached a preliminary agreement for Intel to manufacture some of Apple's chips. While the details weren't specific, Intel traded up 15% on the news. We previously wrote that it was reported in the media that Apple was evaluating using Intel Foundry to manufacture its M-series chips (please see note). We expect a formal announcement of this deal in the coming months as we believe Apple is incentivized to diversify its supply chain. We also believe Intel will likely sign Nvidia as a foundry customer for gaming GPUs, based on our conversations with industry contacts.

We are also raising our data center sales estimates on Intel as we expect upside from Intel's ASIC business, namely its Mount Evans IPU that is used by Google and extends to Anthropic. We are raising our price target on Intel from $95 to $130 using our SOTP valuation framework. We raise our C27 sales estimate by 3% to account for higher foundry and data center sales and raise our C27 EPS estimate by 2%.

AMD

We are raising our price target on AMD from $358 to $460. We value AMD using SOTP analysis with data center GPU/CPU biz at $176/$198 (30/30x 2028 PE), client $26 (15x), gaming $2 (8x), embedded $24 (18x), and net cash per share ~$33.

We believe AMD has won Anthropic as a customer for MI450 AI accelerator and we expect AMD to announce Anthropic as a customer at its Advancing AI day in July. We model AMD AI sales of $15.1 billion in 2026 (up 127% YoY) and $31.8 billion in 2027 (up 111% YoY).

Advanced Micro Devices

Company description

AMD is a fabless semiconductor company that specializes in PC and server microprocessors, graphics processing units (GPUs), semi-custom processors, and embedded processors. AMD is the #2 supplier of microprocessors for desktop PCs, notebook PCs, and servers with approximately 30% total market share. Based in Sunnyvale, CA, AMD has roughly 26,000 employees worldwide. AMD derives approximately 80% of revenue from the Data Center and Client segments and 20% of revenue from the Embedded and Gaming segments. AMD's largest customers include gaming console vendors, PC OEMs, hyperscalers, and notebook ODMs. AMD competes with Intel in the microprocessor segment and NVIDIA in the AI GPU segment. As a fabless semiconductor company, AMD outsources its wafer fabrication to third party foundries. The company has internal back-end assembly and test operations in Malaysia and China.

Investment strategy

We are in “wait and see mode” until the release of the MI450 in 2H26 which carries execution, competitive, and customer concentration risk, in our view. Neutral.

Valuation

Our TP on AMD is $460.00. We value AMD using SOTP analysis with data center GPU/CPU biz at $176/$198 (30/30x 2028 PE), client $26 (15x), gaming $2 (8x), embedded $24 (18x), and net cash per share ~$33. Our target PE multiples are in-line with respective peer group averages.

Risks

Competition: AMD competes directly with Intel in the microprocessor market. Consequently, any fluctuations in market share between AMD and Intel could result in risk to our estimates. AMD competes directly with NVIDIA in the graphics and AI GPU market. Consequently, any fluctuations in market share between AMD and NVIDIA could result in risk to our estimates.

PC End Market: AMD derives roughly 30% of sales from the PC industry, which is highly dependent on IT spending. Therefore, any major uptick/downtick in IT spending could result in upside/downside to our estimates and rating for AMD.

Customer Risk: AMD derives roughly 15% of revenue from Sony and Microsoft. As a result, any major increases/decreases in orders from Sony or Microsoft could have a positive/negative effect on our estimates for AMD.

Valuation: While AMD is currently trading slightly above its historical range, revisions to consensus revenue estimates could result in high volatility to AMD stock.

Tender Offer: Any public or private tender offer for all or part of AMD's business could drive the stock higher and cause us to re-assess our rating.

If the impact on the company from any of these factors proves to be greater than we anticipate, the stock will likely have difficulty achieving our target price. However, should they be less than anticipated, the stock could trade above our target price.

Intel Corp

Company description

Intel is a semiconductor company that specializes in microprocessors and is the #1 supplier of microprocessors for desktop PCs, notebook PCs, and servers with approximately 60% total market share. Intel also has a foundry business. Based in Santa Clara, CA, Intel has roughly 83,200 employees worldwide. Intel derives approximately 90% of its total revenue and 90% of total profits from the PC and Datacenter segments. Intel is a vertically integrated device manufacturer (IDM) with front-end wafer fabrication facilities in Oregon, Arizona, New Mexico, China, Ireland, and Israel and back-end assembly and test operations in Malaysia, China, Costa Rica, and Vietnam.

Investment strategy

We are Buy rated on Intel shares given the AI-driven CPU cycle and we're more positive on Intel foundry given better execution by Intel management.

Valuation

We value INTC based on our SOTP valuation, our price target is $130. We apply a SOTP valuation framework to each of Intel's reportable segments and to highlight our growth expectations for Intel Foundry.

Risks

PC end-market: Intel derives roughly 90% of sales from the PC and server segments, which are highly dependent on IT spending. Therefore, any major uptick/downtick in IT spending could result in upside/downside to our estimates and cause us to reassess our rating on INTC.

M&A: If Intel engages in a substantial accretive acquisition, it could result in upside to our estimates.

Competition: Intel competes directly with AMD in the microprocessor market. Consequently, any fluctuations in market share between Intel and AMD could result in risk to our estimates.

Customer risk: Intel's largest PC OEM customers collectively represent roughly 45% Intel's revenue. As a result, any major declines in orders from PC OEMs could have a negative effect on our estimates for Intel.

Macroeconomic: Intel's geographic exposure spans multiple geographies including the U.S., Europe, and Asia. As a result, any prolonged macroeconomic downturn/upturn could result in downside/upside to our estimates and rating.

If the impact from the above risks turns out to be greater/less than we anticipate, the shares could fail to achieve or could exceed our target price.

Analysts' compensation is determined by Citi Research management and Citigroup's senior management and is based upon activities and services intended to benefit the investor clients of Citigroup Global Markets Inc. and its affiliates (the "Firm"). Compensation is not linked to specific transactions or recommendations. Like all Firm employees, analysts receive compensation that is impacted by overall Firm profitability which includes investment banking, sales and trading, and principal trading revenues. One factor in equity research analyst compensation is arranging corporate access events between institutional clients and the management teams of covered companies. Typically, company management is more likely to participate when the analyst has a positive view of the company.

For financial instruments recommended in the Product in which the Firm is not a market maker, the Firm is a liquidity provider in such financial instruments (and any underlying instruments) and may act as principal in connection with transactions in such instruments. The Firm is a regular issuer of traded financial instruments linked to securities that may have been recommended in the Product. The Firm regularly trades in the securities of the issuer(s) discussed in the Product. The Firm may engage in securities transactions in a manner inconsistent with the Product and, with respect to securities covered by the Product, will buy or sell from customers on a principal basis.

Unless stated otherwise neither the Research Analyst nor any member of their team has viewed the material operations of the Companies for which an investment view has been provided within the past 12 months.

Guide to Citi Research Fundamental Research Investment Ratings:

Citi Research stock recommendations include an investment rating and an optional risk rating to highlight high risk stocks.

Risk rating takes into account both price volatility and fundamental criteria. Stocks will either have no risk rating or a High risk rating assigned.

Investment Ratings: Citi Research investment ratings are Buy, Neutral and Sell. Our ratings are a function of analyst expectations of expected total return ("ETR") and risk. ETR is the sum of the forecast price appreciation (or depreciation) plus the dividend yield for a stock within the next 12 months. The target price is based on a 12 month time horizon. The Investment rating definitions are: Buy (1) ETR of 15% or more or 25% or more for High risk stocks; and Sell (3) for negative ETR. Any covered stock not assigned a Buy or a Sell is a Neutral (2). For stocks rated Neutral (2), if an analyst believes that there are insufficient valuation drivers and/or investment catalysts to derive a positive or negative investment view, they may elect with the approval of Citi Research management not to assign a target price and, thus, not derive an ETR. Citi Research may suspend its rating and target price and assign "Rating Suspended" status for regulatory and/or internal policy reasons. Citi Research may also suspend its rating and target price and assign "Under Review" status for other exceptional circumstances (e.g. lack of information critical to the analyst's thesis, trading suspension) affecting the company and/or trading in the company's securities. In both such situations, the rating and target price will show as "—" and "—" respectively in the rating history price chart. Prior to 11 April 2022 Citi Research assigned "Under Review" status to both situations and prior to 11 Nov 2020 only in exceptional circumstances. As soon as practically possible, the analyst will publish a note re-establishing a rating and investment thesis. Investment ratings are determined by the ranges described above at the time of initiation of coverage, a change in investment and/or risk rating, or a change in target price (subject to limited management discretion). At times, the expected total returns may fall outside of these ranges because of market price movements and/or other short-term volatility or trading patterns. Such interim deviations will be permitted but will become subject to review by Research Management. Your decision to buy or sell a security should be based upon your personal investment objectives and should be made only after evaluating the stock's expected performance and risk.

Catalyst Watch/Short Term Views ("STV") Ratings Disclosure:

Catalyst Watch and STV Upside/Downside calls: Citi Research may also include a Catalyst Watch or STV Upside or Downside call to indicate the analyst expects the share price to rise (fall) in absolute terms over a specified period of 30 or 90 days in reaction to one or more specific near-term catalysts or events impacting the company or the market. A Catalyst Watch will be published when Analyst confidence is high that an impact to share price will occur; it will be a STV when confidence level is moderate. A Catalyst Watch or STV Upside/Downside call will automatically expire at the end of the specified 30/90 day period. The Catalyst Watch will also be automatically removed if share price performance (calculated at market close) exceeds 15% against the direction of the call (unless over-ridden by the analyst). The analyst may also remove a Catalyst Watch or STV call prior to the end of the specified period in a published research note. A Catalyst Watch/STV Upside or Downside call may be different from and does not affect a stock's fundamental equity rating, which reflects a longer-term total absolute return expectation. For purposes of FINRA ratings-distribution-disclosure rules, a Catalyst Watch/STV Upside call corresponds to a buy recommendation and a Catalyst Watch/STV Downside call corresponds to a sell recommendation. Any stock not assigned to a Catalyst Watch Upside, Catalyst Watch Downside, STV Upside, or STV Downside call is considered Catalyst Watch/STV No View. For purposes of FINRA ratings distribution-disclosure rules, we correspond Catalyst Watch/STV No View to Hold in our ratings distribution table for our Catalyst Watch/STV Upside/Downside rating system. However, we reiterate that we do not consider No View to be a recommendation. For all Catalyst Watch/STV Upside/Downside calls, risk exists that the catalyst(s) and associated share-price movement will not materialize as expected.

Investing in non-U.S. securities, including ADRs, may entail certain risks. The securities of non-U.S. issuers may not be registered with, nor be subject to the reporting requirements of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. There may be limited information available on foreign securities. Foreign companies are generally not subject to uniform audit and reporting standards, practices and requirements comparable to those in the U.S. Securities of some foreign companies may be less liquid and their prices more volatile than securities of comparable U.S. companies. In addition, exchange rate movements may have an adverse effect on the value of an investment in a foreign stock and its corresponding dividend payment for U.S. investors. Net dividends to ADR investors are estimated, using withholding tax rates conventions, deemed accurate, but investors are urged to consult their tax advisor for exact dividend computations.
