Wealth Brokers: Summary

Ticker	Rating	2Q26E			2Q26E Earnings Positioning Views
		UBS	Cons	%
SCHW	Buy	$1.48	$1.52	-2.7%	Neutral for 2Q, fundamentals strong (expect EPS estimates to rise throughout preview season), though sweep cash uncertainty likely to cap stock performance. Estimates moving higher into the print on strong trading activity, elevated market levels, and higher NII, including the higher 4Q26 exit NIM outlined at May Investor Day. Multiple paths to upside remain, including sustained trading strength, capital return, NIM expansion, and new growth initiatives, including crypto trading, private markets, and prediction markets. Overall, much of the positive outlook appears reflected following the May Investor Day guidance update, and sweep cash overhang to limit shares near-term.
SF	Buy	$1.30	$1.34	-2.9%	Neutral to Negative for 2Q as expect a top-line led miss mainly on soft advisory quarter. Strong ECM backdrop offset by weaker advisory results and a somewhat more cautious tone on near-term adv. activity. Other major business lines generally tracking in line with consensus for the quarter and expect mgmt. to reiterate '26 targets.
LPLA	Buy	$5.57	$5.38	3.5%	Positive for 2Q on accelerating NNA growth (see potential to beat the Street), improving visibility into 2H catalysts, and more communication around a potential shift to a fee-based structure if needed. Expect management to reiterate confidence in 90% retention despite lingering investor concerns, while highlighting progress on the Commonwealth conversion/synergies, path to 6%+ NNA growth, and higher qrtly share repurchases.
RJF	Neutral	$2.79	$2.83	-1.4%	Negative for 2Q (F3Q26), on expected in-line EPS expected with brokerage revenue strength offset by weaker investment banking fees, both largely understood by investors. Slowing implied organic growth likely a key focus heading into 2H. For RJF, see a constructive broader outlook, though excess capital continues to build. Looking for additional color on 2H organic growth, near-term asset management fee trends under Clark, and capital return priorities.

Boutique Investment Banks: Summary

Ticker	Rating	2Q26E			2Q26E Earnings Positioning Views
		UBS	Cons	%
EVR	Neutral	$2.73	$2.59	5.2%	Positive for 2Q on potential advisory beat, record ECM, though expect flat comp ratio. We expect a very constructive tone from management on the outlook as public pipeline volumes are up +33% Q/Q. Revenue bar set to move higher through preview season. Comp-ratio accrual beat could be a modest positive but too early for a shift in our view, though full-year ratio commentary could turn more constructive.
PJT	Neutral	$1.48	$1.58	-6.3%	Neutral to slight negative on 2Q, as advisory bar moves lower, with pull forward leading to a potential beat, though comp ratio expected to remain flat. Expecting continued measured tone on near term advisory fees, but constructive on the secular tailwinds in the space. Believe will continue to express optimism on restructuring outlook, though see limited opportunity for cons. estimates to move up.
MC	Sell	$0.57	$0.61	-7.4%	Negative on 2Q, expect consensus advisory estimates to move lower although 2Q comp ratio accrual likely fine. Focus on mgmt. commentary on potential accel. of sponsor recover in 2H and latest views on tech M&A, expect a cautiously optimistic tone which may not be enough for the stock given high consensus expectations (unlikely to see EPS rise post quarter) and recent rally in shares.
HLI	Neutral	$1.74	$1.79	-3.0%	Negative for 2Q, as our advisory estimates move lower, and even a RX surprise beat (from two deals slipping in FY4Q26) may not be enough. We expect cautious commentary from management due to slow pace of SMID-cap sponsor and software activity, especially in the midst of energy and rate volatility with a higher for longer rate backdrop.
LAZ	Neutral	$0.36	$0.47	-22.7%	Negative on 2Q (particularly during preview season), as intra quarter commentary confirms weak 2Q advisory trends, putting reliance on 2H to reach comp ratio expectations for the year. Shares likely pressured into preview season; falling consensus EPS (for 2Q) may create a cleaner setup. Softer 2Q advisory offset by improving pipeline but focus remains execution and delivering on the 65% FY comp ratio after our 17% 2Q estimate cut.

Key Themes: Performance Dispersion

- On a relative basis, the best performing subsector has been strategic focused investment banks as large corporate M&A continues to get announced while the worst performing sector is wealth management stocks as sweep cash fears are top of mind to investors.
- Alts (PE vs. Credit): PE/wealth out of favor; private credit stabilizing, with rates supporting APO/ARES.
- Wealth Brokers (Trading vs. Spread): Cash sweep concerns weigh on SCHW/LPLA; trading platforms benefit from elevated activity and AI upside.
- Boutique IBs (Strategic vs. Sponsor): Strategic M&A strength vs. weaker sponsor activity supports firms geared to large-cap deals.
- Traditional Ams (BLK vs Peers): BLK lagging peers (+5% QTD vs. ~24%), amid concerns on private assets, wealth channel, and AI risk.

Recap: Key Themes from 1H26: Asset Managers

- Shifting focus, wealth headwinds known, underlying fundamentals in focus: 1Q26 earnings has catalyzed an expectation reset
 - FRE growth: Steadier than expected fundraising backdrop + improving confidence around deployment increasing confidence around stability of FRE growth.
 - Fundraising dynamics: Widely discussed downside case of AI/Software disruption is not materially slowing fundraising – especially for institutional clients/LPs.
 - Monetization outlook: Commentary generally cautiously optimistic for continued improvement in exit activity.
- Redemptions continue to remain an overhang, although well known: While non-traded vehicles can manage redemptions above the 5% threshold, proration headlines could create negative optics and pressure the group broadly, even if fundamentals are intact.

Key Themes & Preferences: Asset Managers

- Remain patient and selective as near-term catalysts remain limited: Valuations and consensus have improved, but valuation alone isn't a catalyst. Elevated redemptions, negative net flows, and limited visibility on realizations keep the group in a near-term "catalyst desert."
- Redemptions and potential proration remain a key overhang on sentiment: While non-traded vehicles can manage redemptions above the 5% threshold, proration headlines could create negative optics and pressure the group broadly, even if fundamentals are intact.
- Positioning matters as retail-exposed models face greater risk: We prefer limited-retail private credit exposure and lower-multiple names with less sensitivity to redemption-driven volatility.
 - Prefer: APO, STEP, CG, TPG, HLNE appear oversold
 - Less attractive: BX and OWL, given retail exposure and growth headwinds; BAM on high valuation
- BX and OWL face company-specific near-term challenges: OWL growth concerns persist following OBDC II developments, while BX faces risk of larger and more persistent BCRED outflows, multiple compression, and fee timing mismatches despite a solid realization backdrop.
- Downside skew remains under stress scenarios: Weaker wealth flows and delayed or reduced performance fees point to further downside on average, reinforcing a cautious, selective approach to adding exposure.

Key Themes & Preferences: Retail Exposure at Greatest Risk

- Credit fee growth is most at risk, as greater reliance on private wealth fundraising increases sensitivity to retail sentiment and flow volatility versus institutional capital.
- BX and OWL are most exposed, with fee growth more heavily tied to private wealth credit, making their management fee profiles structurally less resilient.
- ARES/APO are more defensively positioned, benefiting from institutional credit capital with longer duration, stickier fees, and lower volatility.
- Institutional-heavy platforms may benefit from a private wealth slowdown, as reduced competition could support wider spreads, better terms, and more durable credit fee growth for APO/ARES.

BX & OWL Have Largest Private Wealth AUM

OWL Credit AUM is over 50% from BDC Vehicles

Source: Company Data, UBS Estimates

Key Themes & Preferences: Software and Private Credit Exposure

- Software exposure as a % of AUM, is ~6% of total AUM for the alts, with no more than 9% of private credit AUM within software.
- Private credit represents ~48% of alts AUM, within a range of 30%-80%, and direct lending, where most investor concerns sit, represent ~20% on average.
- APO, ARES, and OWL hold the largest exposure to direct lending, although ARES and APO's capital base is skewed to institutional investors while OWL has the greatest exposure to more volatile retail wealth channels.

Alts Exposure to Software ~6%

Private Credit and Direct Lending Exposure

Source: Company Data, UBS Estimates. Note* BAM does not disclose direct lending exposure. CG includes direct lending, opportunistic credit, and hybrid capital; As of 4Q25.

Key Themes: Non-traded BDCs not a Meaningful Driver of Mgmt. Fees

- OWL and BX have the highest mgmt. fee contribution from non-traded BDCs, although the totality of redemption requests from 2Q26 would <3% and <1% of mgmt. fees respectively
- Key Concern for Alts exposed to wealth channel is the implications on forward FRE growth profile
- We expect 3Q26 redemption requests to moderate relative to 2Q26 though still pro-rated at the 5% of NAV level

OWL Bull/Bear Debate

OWL: Bull-Bear Debate: OWL in a Holding Pattern

Bull Points

Valuation close to trough multiples. OWL trades at 10.5x 2027 UBSe which is close to OWL's multi-year trough.

Raising Digital Infrastructure Fund IV, positioned well to capitalize on investor appetite. Digital Infrastructure Fund III hit a $7B hard cap, and OWL is aggressively pushing to launch Fund IV by late 2026 and upsize.

Retail channel continues to grow well outside credit (ORENT and ODIT). Products like ODIT and ORENT have not seen redemption pressure, and have been growing. Expansion into additional wirehouses could drive significant AUM growth through non-institutional investors.

Credit redemption pressure could stabilize by late 2026 if performance holds up well and investor education efforts soothe investor fears.

FRE margin can be maintained as OWL deploys large AUM backlog that is not yet earning management fees and through fundraising in other credit channels (ABF & Insurance).

High dividend could attract a yield-orientated investor base. OWL has a track record of continuing to grow its dividend annually, and its 9%+ regular dividend yield could entice investors to the stock.

Lower share price helps has a less dilutive impact from contingent consideration tied to recent M&A, limiting near-term impact on per-share metrics vs a higher share price, all else equal. In addition, contingent payments based on KPIs, so if paid generally a good outcome from deals.

Bear Points

OWL's SBC-adjusted valuation is not as cheap. Currently, OWL trades at 13.5x 2027E UBSe DE/Sh. Risk of higher SBC required to maintain compensation levels given lower share price.

Digital infra has experienced fast growth, capex uncertainty could slow LP allocations to the digital infra theme. Also channel could slow broadly, GP Stakes VII has been elongated.

ODIT is a small contributor to retail channel and ORENT gross inflows slowed in recent months. Real Asset private wealth products could slow further from a gross inflow perspective if investors negatively associate headlines pertaining to OWL across asset classes.

Institutional interest in direct lending/private credit for OWL suffers from negative headline risk.

Nearly all credit assets are in floating-rate loans, so any significant decline in base interest rates would compress Part I fees and returns for BDC products.

Dividend cut could happen. An unlikely event UBSe even under a stressed redemption scenario. Though if there were to be material credit impairment and NAV reductions, dividend coverage could become a more material issue given high payout in our base case: 103%/95% payout ratio in 2026/2027.

A higher stock price could increase dilution from contingent issuance and drive added selling pressure as share price approaches issue price levels as insider selling could accelerate.

OWL: Potential Upside/Downside in Bull Bear Scenarios

- Materially slowing BDC growth could compress multiple further – implying further downside of ~23%
- Our take: In our view, investors need to underwrite low- to mid-teens FRE growth to get constructive, and the risk of falling short remains elevated through 2028.
- Credit quality and channel durability: Central to the dispute
 - For investors who believe private credit cycle is benign and semi-liquid channels are intact, just cyclically challenged = Could own OWL for the re-rating potential
 - Investors who believe early inning of a credit cycle and won't see much improvement in retail bid structurally impaired or lack of movement over next 12 months = Stay on sidelines and watch nonaccrual trends, underlying portfolio health, and investor interest in products (from both retail and institutional)

OWL: Valuation Debate Depends on Growth Outlook and SBC Treatment

- Transitioning to high-single-digit FRE growth profile – investor may question whether current multiple adequately reflects reduced growth visibility and earnings volatility
- Stock based compensation (SBC) becoming more relevant in alt manager valuations
 - SBC has remained elevated and increased in 1Q, rather than normalizing after their 2024-2025 acquisition spree (IPI Partners, Prima Capital Advisors, Kuvare Asset Management, and Atalaya Capital Management).
 - SBC appears to have been used as a lever to support margins (i.e., partially offsetting expense growth).
 - With the share price down, equity compensation becomes less valuable, potentially requiring higher issuance to maintain employee economics

M&A Mid-Year Review: Large Strategic Lead, Sponsor Remain Muted

Well understood by the market:

- M&A vs. Market Cap: Activity remains depressed with global M&A at 5.2% of market cap vs. 7.9% historically (U.S.: 3.6% vs. 7.5%).
- Strategic Mix Shift: Large deals dominate—>$5B at 43% of fees vs. 28% historically; small deals ($50–250M) at 7% vs. 12%. Benefits: EVR, PJT
- Regulatory Tailwind: More constructive stance accelerating timelines (>$2B deals closing ~5 months vs. ~10 months prior), presenting a secular tailwind to large strategic advisory transactions.
- Sponsor Activity Weak: Fees down 19% YoY; smallest deals ($0–500M) weakest (-22%), while larger deals more resilient. Headwind: MC, HLI
- Sponsor Software: Activity near COVID lows; potential bottom forming but visibility limited

Potentially underappreciated:

- Sponsor Recovery (Very Early): Improvement emerging in $500M–$2B deals; sub-$500M remains pressured.
- Sponsor Mix Stable: >$2B deals ~56% of mix (vs. 52% historical); small deals 10% (vs. 14%).
- Cross-Border Resilient: ~27% of fees, within historical range (23–30%) despite macro uncertainty. Benefits: LAZ, JEF
- Boutique vs Bulge Bracket Market Share: Boutiques maintaining (and in some areas gaining) share vs. bulge brackets across global, U.S., and sponsor pools.
- ECM Follow-ons: Broad-based and in line with historical mix—supports durability. Benefits: JEF, EVR
- ECM IPO: 2026 tracking as strongest since 2021; we estimate a fee pool ~60% of peak. Benefits: JEF

Wealth Brokers: Cash Sweep Risk is Real but Overstated

- Concern: AI/tokenization of cash (e.g., “smart cash” solutions) could compress sweep spreads by accelerating cash sorting
- Limited Client Incentive
 - Sweep balances are small and largely transactional, for example ~$5k avg. for LPL
 - Incremental benefit modest (~$150/year for +300 bps)
- Advised Channel Friction
 - Adoption dependent on client demand and advisor behavior, not automatic
 - Low client urgency → limited advisor push
- Platform Reality
 - Most WMs operate controlled platforms
 - New cash solutions only matter if integrated/approved
- Bottom Line
 - Cash levels likely remain low (~<3%)
 - Some pricing pressure, but not expecting structural reset in sweep economics

MC Downgrade to Sell (Price Target $60)

MC: Downgrade to Sell Amid Subdued Sponsor & Software Trends (PT $60)

Downgrading MC to Sell, $60 PT. Sponsor-heavy mix + tech exposure make consensus '26-'27 growth too optimistic. Software M&A Stress Case =~10% EPS risk to '27.

- Thesis

- Downgrade to Sell as consensus expectations for advisory revenue and earnings acceleration appear too optimistic, creating risk of estimate cuts and multiple compression.
- Our 2027E estimates are 10% below consensus revenue and 22% below consensus EPS, reflecting a more cautious outlook on sponsor and software M&A activity.
- Current valuation does not adequately reflect execution and earnings risks; shares trade at ~23x our 2027E EPS estimate.

- Why We Are More Cautious

- Highest sponsor exposure among boutique peers (~64% of deal flow vs. ~50% peer average), while sponsor-backed M&A remains muted.
- Significant exposure to technology/software M&A, where AI-related uncertainty continues to pressure valuation frameworks and delay transactions.
- Less leverage to the strongest area of the market—large-cap strategic M&A, which has been the primary driver of the current M&A recovery.

- Estimate / Valuation Risk

- Consensus assumes 11% / 19% revenue growth in 2026E / 2027E vs. our 8% / 10% outlook.
- Continued hiring and elevated MD headcount growth make comp ratio normalization harder to achieve, limiting margin expansion.
- Software M&A stress scenario implies approximately 10% downside to consensus 2027 EPS

- Bottom Line

- Risk/reward has become unfavorable following the stock's strong recent performance.
- We see greater downside than upside as elevated expectations meet a slower sponsor recovery, challenged software backdrop, and limited operating leverage.

BDCs Current Environment

Key Themes: Multiple Contraction, Higher Leverage, but Benign Credit

- BDC Selloff, externally managed BDC P/NAV multiples have come down ~0.30x over the last 2 years.
- No Redemptions but Higher Leverage, leverage has ticked up as most have lost the ability to raise equity.
- Credit Stable but Quality of Earnings Lessened, non-accruals within historicals, but PIK income has risen.

Valuation Method and Risk Statement

Our price targets for brokers (wealth management and independent investment banks) and traditional asset managers are determined using a P/E multiple on our '27E EPS. For the alternative asset managers we use a blended 50%/50% P/E multiple on our '27E EPS and SOTP framework. Risks include: 1) an economic slowdown, driving higher than expected losses; 2) a dramatic slowing in capital markets activity levels; 3) a less vigorous rebound in business and consumer spending than we anticipate; and 4) more severe than expected revenue headwinds from regulatory reform.

Investing in structured investments involves significant risks. For a detailed discussion of the risks involved in investing in any particular structured investment, you must read the relevant offering materials for that investment. Structured investments are unsecured obligations of a particular issuer with returns linked to the performance of an underlying asset. Depending on the terms of the investment, investors could lose all or a substantial portion of their investment based on the performance of the underlying asset. Investors could also lose their entire investment if the issuer becomes insolvent. UBS does not guarantee in any way the obligations or the financial condition of any issuer or the accuracy of any financial information provided by any issuer. Structured investments are not traditional investments and investing in a structured investment is not equivalent to investing directly in the underlying asset. Structured investments may have limited or no liquidity, and investors should be prepared to hold their investment to maturity. The return of structured investments may be limited by a maximum gain, participation rate or other feature. Structured investments may include call features and, if a structured investment is called early, investors would not earn any further return and may not be able to reinvest in similar investments with similar terms. Structured investments include costs and fees which are generally embedded in the price of the investment. The tax treatment of a structured investment may be complex and may differ from a direct investment in the underlying asset. UBS and its employees do not provide tax advice. Investors should consult their own tax advisor about their own tax situation before investing in any securities.

Important Information About Sustainable Investing Strategies: Sustainable investing strategies aim to consider and incorporate environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors into investment process and portfolio construction. Strategies across geographies approach ESG analysis and incorporate the findings in a variety of ways. Incorporating ESG factors or Sustainable Investing considerations may inhibit the portfolio manager's ability to participate in certain investment opportunities that otherwise would be consistent with its investment objective and other principal investment strategies. The returns on a portfolio incorporating ESG factors or Sustainable Investing considerations may be lower or higher than portfolios where ESG factors, exclusions, or other sustainability issues are not considered by the portfolio manager, and the investment opportunities available to such portfolios may differ.
